

A historical illustration showing a large three-masted sailing ship docked at a pier. In the foreground, a small boat is filled with people, some of whom are dumping large crates (tea) into the water. The scene is set on a river with buildings visible in the background. The title 'The Boston Tea Party' is overlaid in large, yellow, stylized letters with a blue outline.

The Boston Tea Party

Cargoes of the Tea Ships into the River, at Boston

Презентацию выполнила учитель английского
языка МОУ СОШ №5 г.
Ртищево
Новикова Вера Юрьевна

- In the 18th century the colonies in North America were under British rule. There were 13 of them: Virginia, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Maryland, Rhode Island, Connecticut Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Georgia.

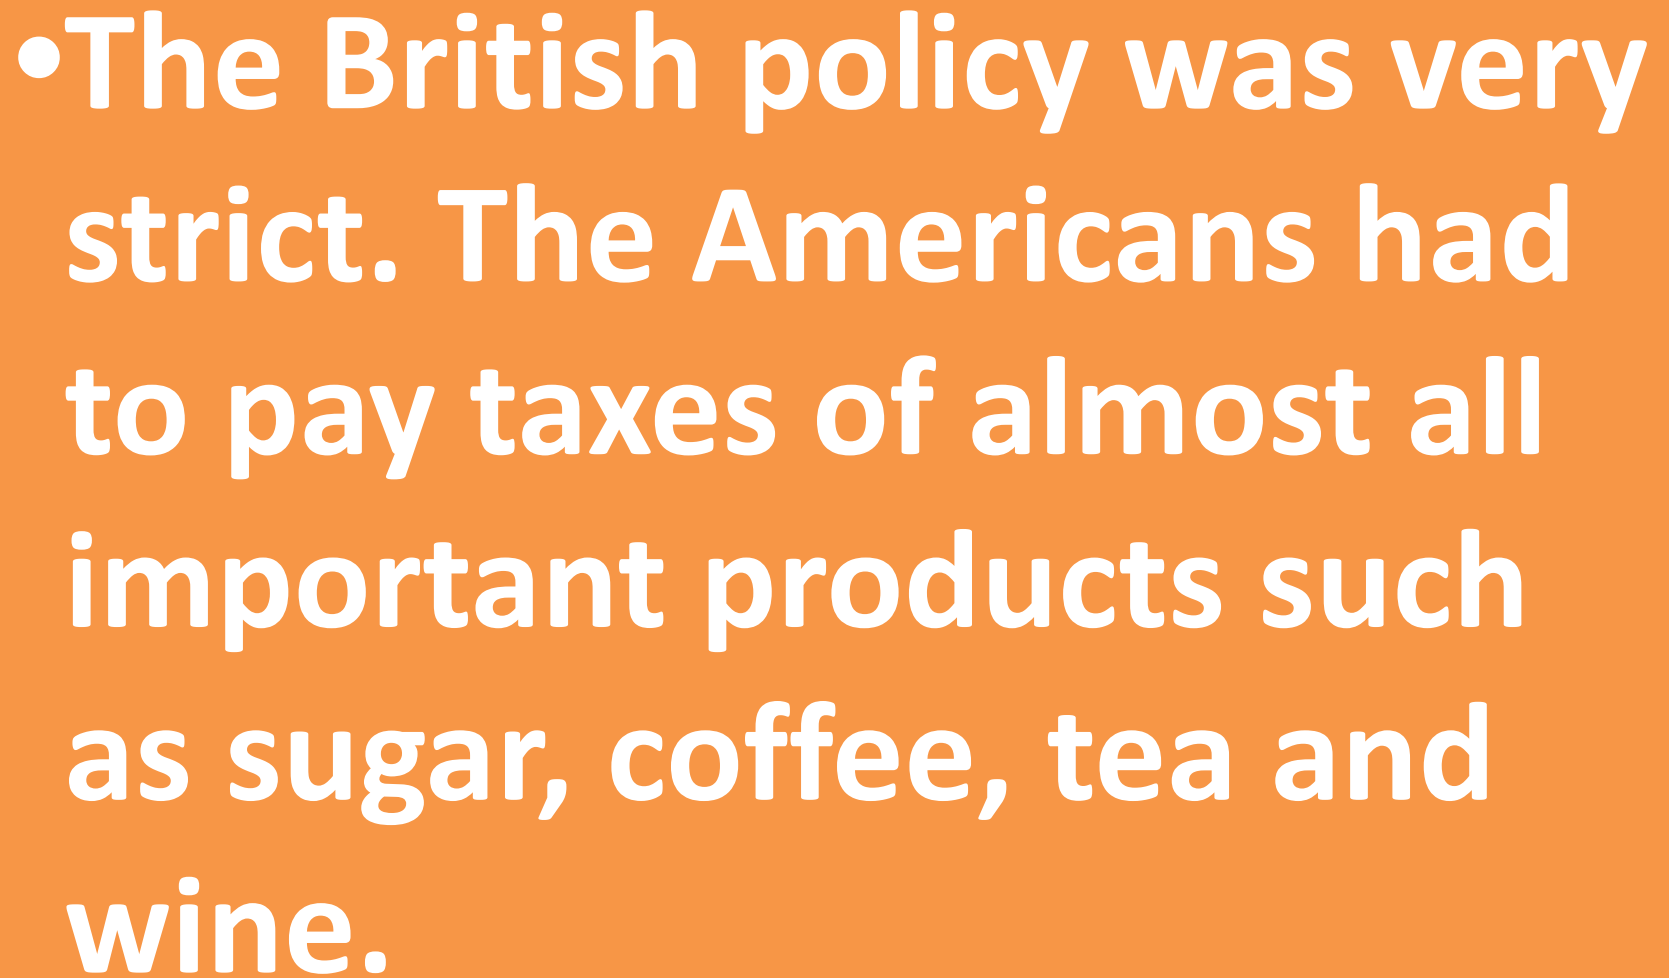

HEAN

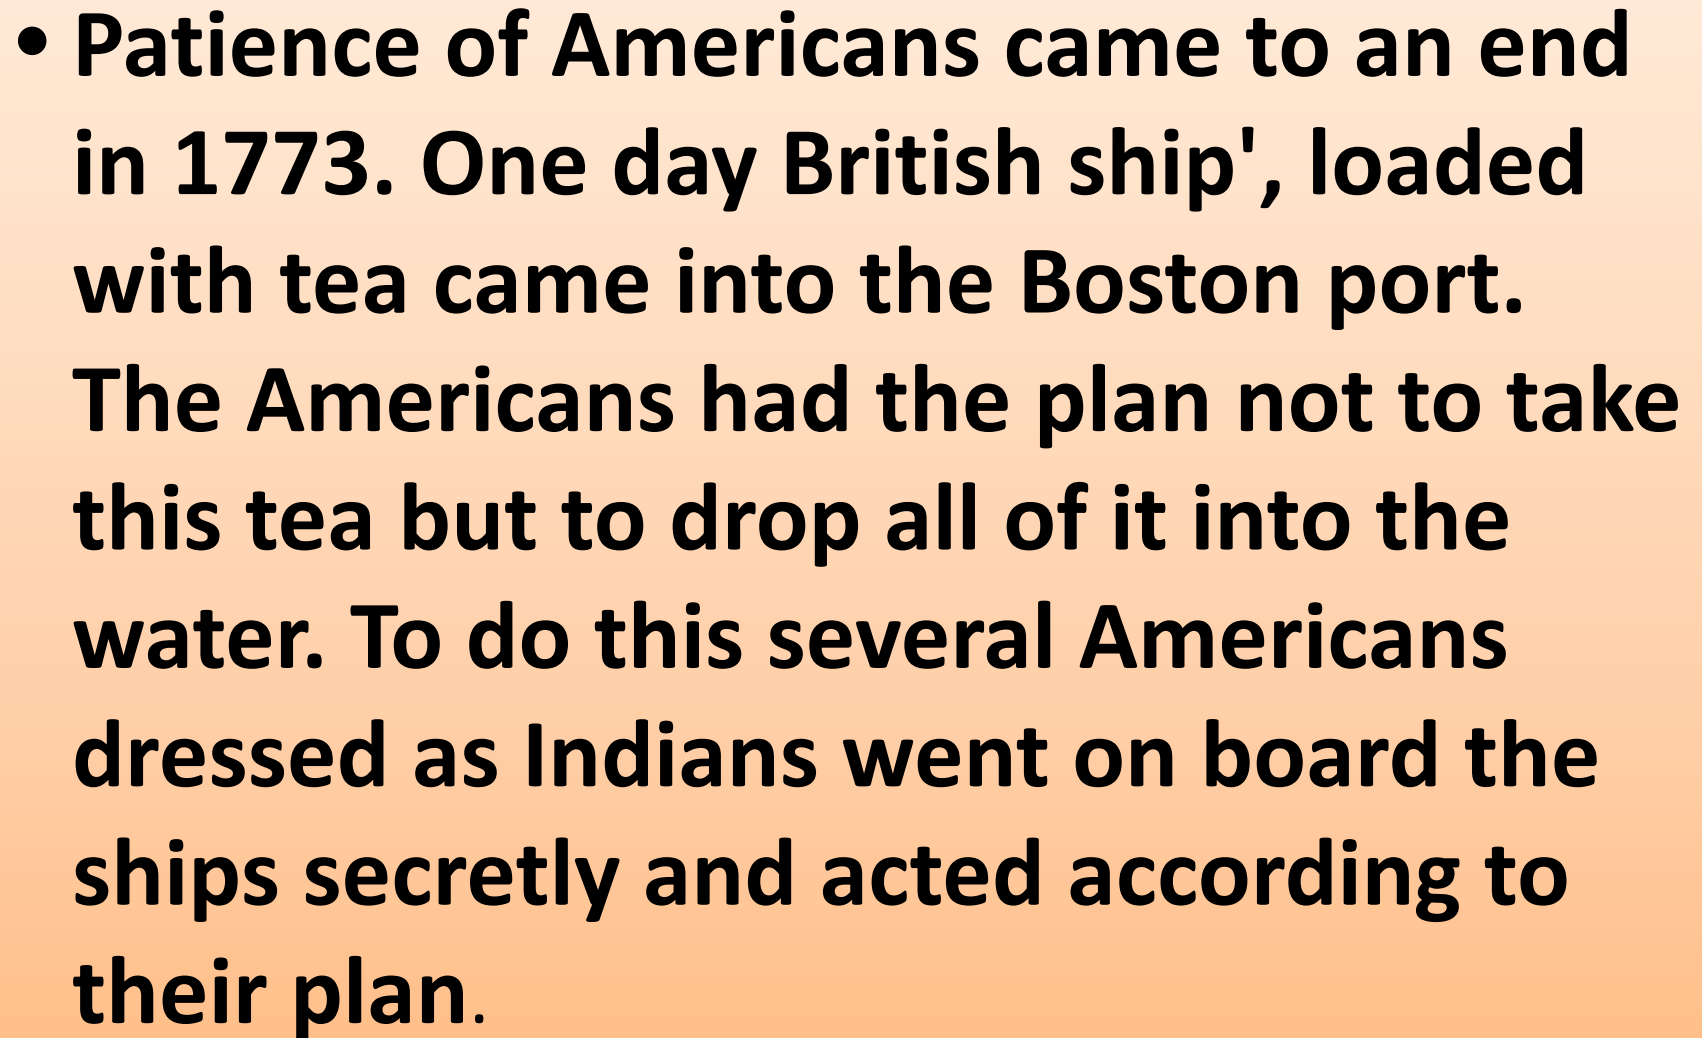

WEST TERRITORY
CONNECTICUT RESERVE
VANIA 1787
PENNSYLVANIA
NEW YORK 1788
NEW JERSEY 1787
New York
Trenton
Philadelphia
CONNECTIONT 1788
Providence
RHODE ISLAND 1790
HARTFORD
BOSTON
MASSACHUSETTS 1788
PORTSMOUTH
NEW HAMPSHIRE 1798

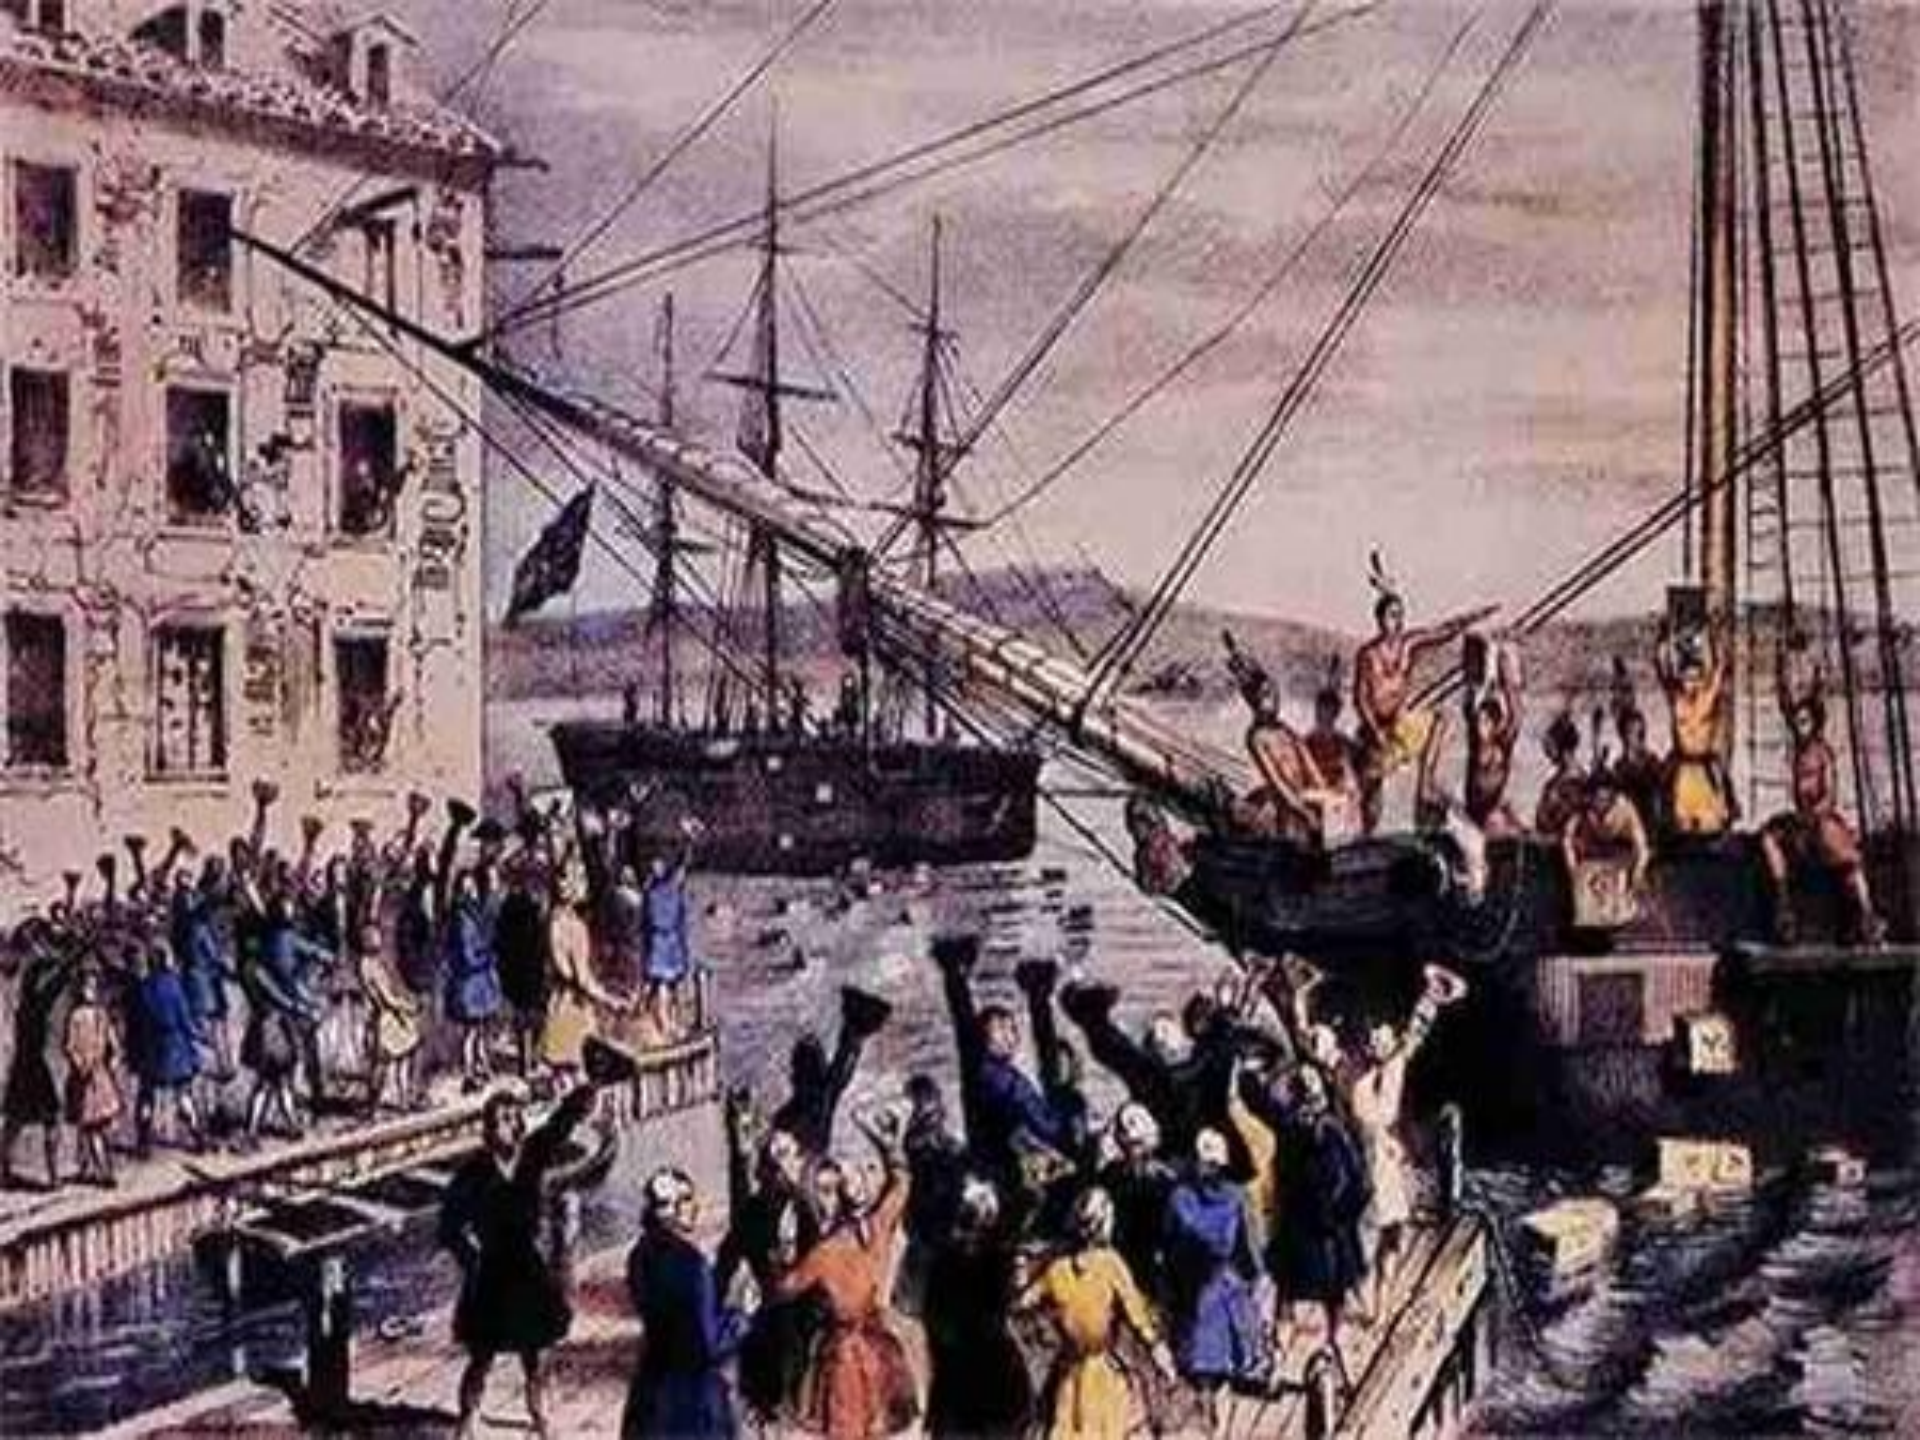

BOSTON TEA PARTY. 1773

-
- The background of the slide is a faded, sepia-toned illustration of a large sailing ship, likely a three-masted vessel, on the open sea. The ship's rigging and masts are visible against a light sky. The overall style is that of a historical engraving or map. The text is overlaid on a solid orange rectangular box.
- The British policy was very strict. The Americans had to pay taxes of almost all important products such as sugar, coffee, tea and wine.

-
- Patience of Americans came to an end in 1773. One day British ship', loaded with tea came into the Boston port. The Americans had the plan not to take this tea but to drop all of it into the water. To do this several Americans dressed as Indians went on board the ships secretly and acted according to their plan.

- Since all the tea was thrown into the water, this event got the name
- The Boston Tea Party.

- Of course, the British Government did not like it, so they closed the poll and sent soldiers to the American colony.
- Soon after this, the war between Britain and the American colonics, started. It was the War for Independence of the American colonies.