It's hard to believe it all started with 21 Jump Street. If Hollywood was a long-jump, then has jumped far beyond the sandpit. Platoon, Donnie Brasco, Pirates, Blow, Sweeney Todd, and now Public Enemies -Johnny Depp can pretty much do anything. John Christopher Depp III was born June 9, 1963, in

Owensboro, Kentucky. The son of John Christopher, a city engineer and Betty Sue Palmer, a waitress and homemaker (Johnny Depp has a tattoo of his mother's name on his left arm), young Johnny relocated to Florida shortly after the death of his grandfather, with whom the future actor was very close, with his three older siblings.

Catherine Zeta-Jones

Catherine Zeta-Jones grew up in Swansea, Wales, under the quidance of her seamstress mother, Patricia, and her confectionery-business owner, Dai. Her interest in performing became evident early on as she enrolled in dance classes before her fifth birthday, later joined a troupe at the Hazel Johnson School of Dance and subsequently caught the acting bug through church theater groups. Just when she was ready for a breakthrough, Zeta-Jones suffered a temporary setback when an infection forced her to stay at home and affected her breathing to the point where a tracheotomy was needed.

Nicolas Cage

Born Nicolas Coppola, future star Nicolas Cage gained his earliest acting experiences as a youngster when he would put on performances with his siblings
