In America it's a shame not to study, as tuition paying a lot of money or sponsors, or parents. The children understand that investment is necessary to work out.

In the schools of America cannot see that someone someone has cheated. There this is strictly monitored. Even classmates noticed written off, could blow his cover. Students not only cheat themselves but also willing to write off others.

The appearance of American teenagers do not give any importance. Even those who are overweight, it is absolutely not complex. The clothes are very simple and often sloppy. Boys wear t-shirts and shorts. Girls - those t-shirts and skirts.

Russian girls from high school never comes to school in faded form and clothing. At Americans it is quite normal. In addition, their clothes are rarely combined together. Not to say that they don't care about appearance and they do not want to be beautiful, just their concept of beauty.

In many States among adolescents, no differences in the cost and quality of clothing. Do not concentrate attention on the presence or absence of a vehicle. In this regard there is no differentiation by social status or the amount of money the family. More precisely, it is, just people don't flaunt it in front of each other.
