The rhinoceros is a large animal, and its skin is very thick and hard. It is covered in small, circular scales, which are arranged in a regular pattern. The rhinoceros has a single, large horn on its nose, which is made of a substance called keratin. The horn is very hard and can be used for defense. The rhinoceros is a herbivore, and it eats grass and other plants. It is found in the savannas of Africa and Asia. The rhinoceros is a very important animal, and it is one of the most endangered species in the world. It is being hunted for its horn, which is used in traditional Chinese medicine. The rhinoceros is a very large animal, and it is very powerful. It can charge at its enemies, and it can trample them.
