Problems of Youth

Today it is fashionable to speak about teenage problems. A few years ago alcohol, fights, killings and other kinds of violence were more problems for adults than for young people. But now, as official report admits, violence, AIDS, drugs and alcohol are more and more associated with youngest. For many children from poor families violence, drinking problems and all that is associated with poverty becomes more real than reality.

Problems of Youth

What has gone wrong? Some specialists explain that the changes of our society, the system of our life force young people to choose their own lifestyle. On the one hand, our society agrees that 15-17-yearold people are old enough to be responsible for what they do and give them quite a lot of freedom and rights. On the other hand, most adults think that teenagers are too young to be taken seriously. This misunderstanding produced many problems.

Actually, a lot of teenagers say that their parents let them do anything they want and are quite indifferent to their problems. Many teenagers get upset or depressed when they can't solve their problems. As a result, it makes them believe that there is only one way out - to stop living and commit suicide.

No doubt, the teens' problems will increase. And young people should feel that they are cared for.

The background of the slide features five grey silhouettes of people in various dynamic dance poses. From left to right: a woman with curly hair in a low, wide stance; a man with one arm raised high; a person with both arms raised; a woman with one arm raised in a 'rock on' hand gesture; and a man with both arms raised. Each silhouette has a faint, lighter grey reflection on the surface below it. The word 'Smoking' is centered over the middle of the group.

Smoking

Smoking

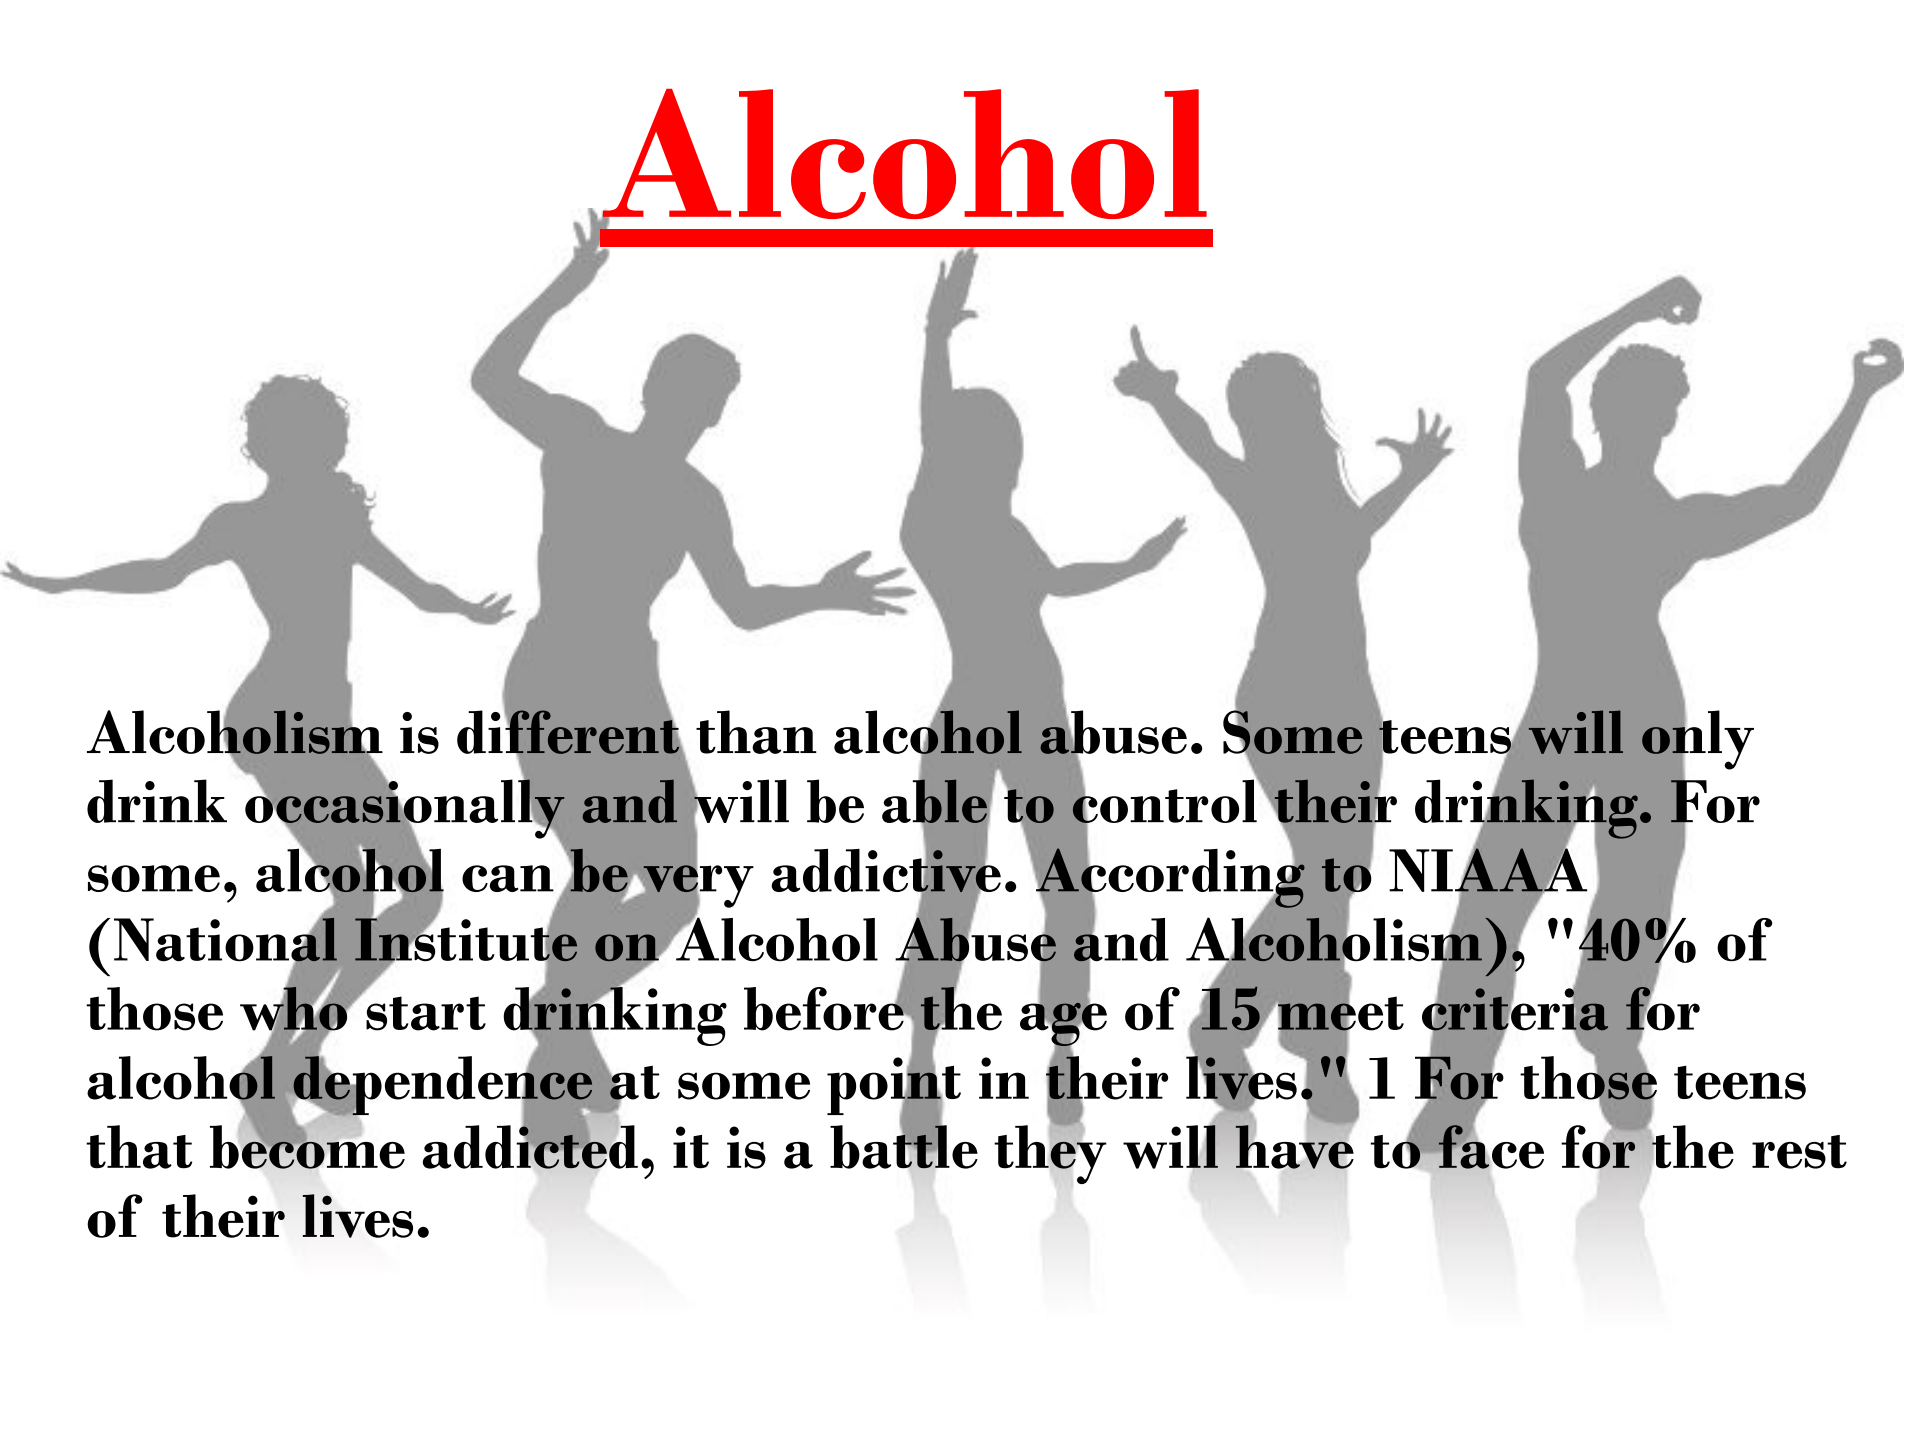

People who smoke regularly are more likely to develop certain illnesses when they get older. These include lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema. It can also reduce fertility.

Alcohol

Alcohol

The background of the slide features five grey silhouettes of teenagers in various dynamic poses, suggesting they are dancing or celebrating. The silhouettes are positioned behind the text, with some overlapping it.

Alcoholism is different than alcohol abuse. Some teens will only drink occasionally and will be able to control their drinking. For some, alcohol can be very addictive. According to NIAAA (National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism), "40% of those who start drinking before the age of 15 meet criteria for alcohol dependence at some point in their lives." 1 For those teens that become addicted, it is a battle they will have to face for the rest of their lives.

Drugs

The background of the slide features a series of grey silhouettes of people in various dynamic poses, suggesting dancing or movement. These silhouettes are layered behind the text, with some appearing more prominent than others.

More people are abusing drugs today than in any other time in history of mankind, and many of those people are youth.

Understanding what drugs are is fundamental for understanding their potential abuse. Drugs are a psychoactive substance.

A psychoactive substance is something that people take to change the way they feel, think or behave. Some of these substances are called drugs and others, like alcohol and tobacco, are considered dangerous, but are not called drugs. The term drug also covers a number of substances that must be used under medical supervision to treat illnesses.
