MY PERFECT SCHOOL!

By my opinion school must be compulsory because it is a part of our life of each person. My school is not modern building, but as though it is not so I love it. At my school there is no special school uniform, pupils wearing what they want, but as for all school's rules at my school the uniform is welcomed too. As for teachers and pupils there are good mutual relations. The teacher listens to ideas of pupils, and pupils can freely communicate with teachers. Such way we getting interesting and fascinating lessons.

For example the English language's class should be with various tables and adapted for a long subject studying. At school it would be possibility of making small lockers for textbooks, as it is in the American school.*

It would be great! Cabinets should be make more spacious and a concert hall must have a rather big stage and great numerous seats for spectators!*

MINI ESSEY.

- Education is a process of no genesis due to the centralized training group of people during the certain period of time. Owing to formation people can adopt huge experience of knowledge and skills saved up by a civilization for all time of development.
- In ordinary understanding formation among other things means and, basically, is limited by training of pupils by the teacher. It can consist in training to reading, the letter, mathematics, history and other sciences. Teachers on narrow specialties, such as astrophysics or zoological train only in the given subject, is usual at universities and other high schools. There is also a teaching of professional skills, for example, driving. Except for formation in special establishments there is also a self-education, for example, through the Internet, reading, visiting of museums or personal experience.
