Threshold Reports in STR Analysis

— DISADVANTAGES —

- Numbers of reports may be unmanageable.
- Vast majority of reported activities are legitimate.
- Analysis of them by themselves are of limited value.
- Those related to ML/TF have recognizable patterns and characteristics and are reported as STRs in most cases.

Threshold Reports in STR Analysis

— ADVANTAGES —

- Provide documented identifying data used by STR subjects.
- Identify potential persons for the analytical cluster.
- Uncover fund flows, transaction patterns, and conversion of funds relating to STR subjects.
- Point to other sources of information from reporting institutions and partner FIUs.

Other Information Received by the FIU

- FIU exchange information.
- Sponsoring agency data for those FIUs housed in a larger organization.
- FIU case data.
- Supplemental STR background information from reporting institutions.

Types of Government Information

- Investigation reports and criminal history records.
- Company formation and registration records.
- Border crossing records (arrival and departure).
- Immigration records (visa and long-term admission to country).
- Passport and drivers license records.
- Vehicle, aircraft and boat registration.
- Intelligence reports.
