

PLURAL IN COMPOUND NOUNS

1. As a rule in compounds the second component takes the plural:

SINGULAR

- housewife
- tooth-brush
- boy-scout
- maid-servant

PLURAL

- housewives
- tooth-brushes
- boy-scouts
- maid-servants

Compounds in -ful :

SINGULAR

- handful
- spoonful
- mouthful

PLURAL

- handful or handfuls
- spoonful or spoonfuls
- mouthful or mouthfuls

man or woman, the first component = plurals in both
components:

SINGULAR

PLURAL

- man-servant
- woman-doctor
- gentleman-farmer
- men-servants
- women-doctors
- gentlemen-farmers.

In compounds where the preposition is a linking element only the first noun takes the plural form:

SINGULAR

- editor-in-chief
- mother-in-law
- commander-in-chief
- coat-of-mail
- man-of-war

PLURAL

- editors-in-chief
- mothers-in-law
- commanders-in-chief
- coats-of-mail
- mens-of-war

with a conjunction as a linking element the plural is taken by the second noun:

gin-and-t onic

gin-and-t onics

noun + preposition/adverb/
adjective = the first element+S:

SINGULAR

- passer-by
- looker-on
- court-martial
- attorney-general

PLURAL

- passers-by
- lookers-on
- courts-martial
- attorneys-general

No noun in a compound = the last element + s:

SINGULAR

- forget-me-not
- breakdown
- stand-by
- grown-up
- close-up
- pick-up
- drop-out
- go-between

PLURAL

- forget-me-nots
- breakdowns
- stand-bys
- grown-ups
- close-ups
- pick-ups
- drop-outs
- go-betweens