Jim Carrey

(born January 17, 1962)

Is a Canadian-American actor and comedian. He has received two Golden Globe Awards and has also been nominated on four occasions.

Jim is known for the films "The Mask," "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective", "Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls", "Dumb and Dumber", "Liar Liar", "Bruce Almighty".

Mario Lemieux

(born October 5, 1965)

Is a former Canadian professional ice hockey player who is widely acknowledged to be one of the best players of all time. He is the only person ever to win the Stanley Cup as both a player and an owner.

Celine Dion

(born March 30, 1968)

The singer originally from Canada, which won the World Music Olympus with dizzying speed.

Wayne Gretzky

(born January 26, 1961)

Canadian hockey player, center forward. One of the most famous athletes of the XX century.

Leonard Cohen

(born September 21, 1934)

Is a Canadian singer-songwriter, musician, poet and novelist. Cohen published his first book of poetry in Montreal in 1956 and his first novel in 1963. His work often explores religion, isolation, sexuality and interpersonal relationships. Famously reclusive, having once spent several years in a Zen Buddhist monastery, and possessing a persona frequently associated with mystique, he is extremely well-regarded by critics for his literary accomplishments, for the richness of his lyrics, and for producing an output of work of high artistic quality over a five-decade career.

Stephen Harper

(born April 30, 1959)

Is the 22nd and current Prime Minister of Canada, and leader of the Conservative Party. Harper became Prime Minister after his party won a minority government in the 2006 federal election. He is the first Prime Minister from the newly reconstituted Conservative Party, following a merger of the Progressive Conservative and Canadian Alliance parties.

The end.
