

My Fair Lady

The open gates to better English

The science of speech is the one of the most important sciences in our world.

A young girl with dark hair, wearing a light blue sweater, is shown in profile, blowing on a dandelion seed head. The background is a bright, green field under a clear blue sky. The dandelion seed head is in the foreground, and several seeds are captured in mid-air, floating away from the girl. The overall scene is peaceful and evocative.

What a pity
when man
can not speak
as beautifully as think!

A person who utters such disgusting and depressing noise has no right to be anywhere, no right to live. Remember that you are a human being with a soul and the divine gift of articulate speech.

There are lots of difficulties
in learning
of speaking
well , but it is worth it.

The ability of speaking correctly can influence on your life in a very good way.

Work on yourself and you will get perfect results!

It's up to you to do your choice.

Let's do
our world
and life
better
with good knowing
of language
and culture!