

Parliament Limits the English Monarchy

The Greedy Queen and Her Stingy Parliament

James I and the clash with Parliament

- James I wanted absolute power when he inherited the throne from Queen Elizabeth
- Elizabeth wanted absolute power too, but was better at flattering parliament to get her way
- Always conflict between the royalty and parliament over $ - royalty wants $ for royal court and foreign wars

- Also annoyed people b/c he refused to make Puritan reforms (get rid of Catholic practices).
- Hated when anyone told him what to do (sound familiar?)
- Known for the King James bible – the Puritan translation of the old bible

King James I

Charles I

- 1625, James I dies and his son, Charles I, gets the throne
- Always needed $ for war
- When parliament denied $ requests, he dissolved parliament
- 1628, parliament gets back together and asks Charles to sign the Petition of Right

More of Charles I

- *The people hated the taxes
(obviously)*
- Doesn't he look like a pompous jerk?

English Civil War

- Since Charles I ruled over Scotland AND England, there were several religions
- Charles I wanted ONE religion – ended up in Civil War when the Scots rebelled
- War cost $, so Charles needed Parliament. Parliament hated him and wanted to limit his power
 - Supporters of Charles I = Royalists
 - The opposition supports Parliament = Roundheads

More Civil War

- Under leadership of Oliver Cromwell, the puritan roundheads finally won (1646)
- Took Charles I hostage, tried him in front of the public and executed him
- The decapitation -
