Facebook

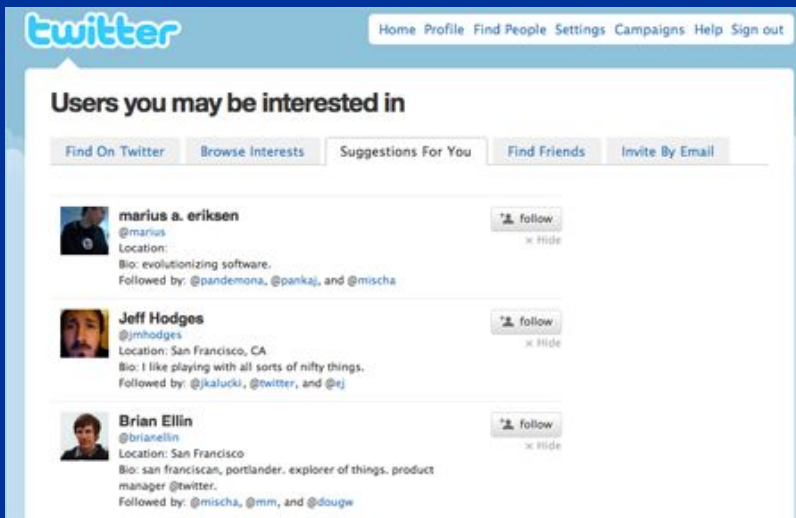

Facebook is a social networking service and website launched in February 2004. As of February 2012, Facebook has more than 845 million active users. Facebook was founded by Mark Zuckerberg with his college roommates and fellow students.

Twitter

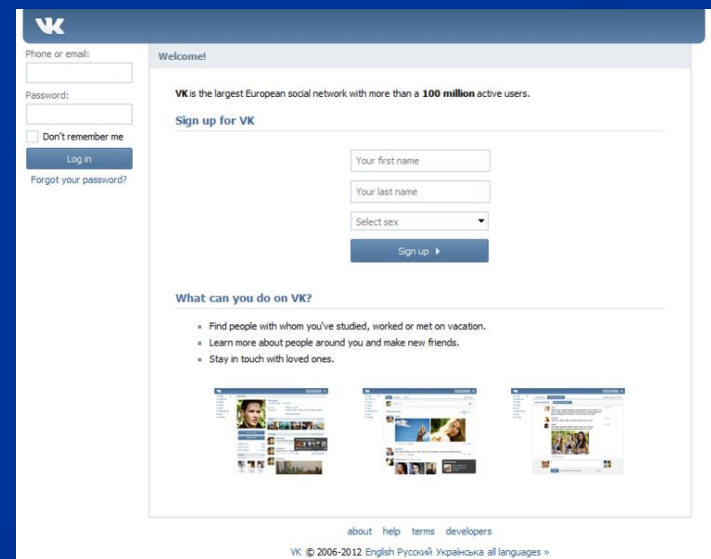

Twitter is an online social networking service and microblogging service that enables its users to send and read text-based posts of up to 140 characters, known as "tweets". It was created in March 2006 by Jack Dorsey and launched that July. The service rapidly gained worldwide popularity, with over 300 million users as of 2011.

Vkontakte

Vkontakte is a Russian social networking service. Founder Pavel Durov launched VKontakte for beta testing in September 2006. As of January 2012, VK has over 140 million accounts. It is the fourth most visited website in Russia and Ukraine.

Odnoklassniki

Odnoklassniki is a social networking service for classmates and old friends reunion popular in Russia and other former Soviet Republics. It was created by Albert Popkov on March 4, 2006. The website currently claims that it has more than 45 million registered users and 10 million daily unique visitors.

So, there are many social networks in the Internet. Nowadays almost all people are registered in even one social network. All social networks make our life easier and enable us to become closer to all our friends.
