Many years ago it was called:
«The new world» a lot of people arrived there to find a new life. It seemed them, that the land, the nature and the life there was easier than on other continents.

The History of discovering

Many years ago in 1492 a great traveller Christopher Columbus discovered America. Many settlers faced to a lot of difficulties during the first years living there among wild nature, wild animals and strange people. There were 13 colonies in America in the 17th century. That's why there are 13 stripes on the American national flag.

Modern inventions

The United States is a young country. Americans like new ideas. They built the first skyscrapers. They put the first man on the moon. But Americans love old things too. Americans like to be modern. They like exciting modern cities, new houses and new cars. American scientists and technologists make a lot of inventions in all branches of science and industry to make people's life better, richer and more comfortable.

Americans

The people of the United States are in fact people from many different countries. These people brought to their new home their traditions. Only Americans celebrate. Thanks giving and Memorial Day.
