

Why I need study economics

A woman with dark hair is shown in profile, looking upwards and to the right. Her hand is raised to her chin in a thoughtful pose. A large, white, stylized question mark is superimposed over her head, indicating a state of deep thought or inquiry.

I have been learning economics just 2 years, but even for that short time I understand that this science learn not just how to economize money, but and how correctly lead business or some enterprise.

And the main reason why I learn economics is:

For help my government to solve financial-economic problems

To be able properly manage money

Finding the most profitable investment objects

Be able to balance supply and demand

Being successful economist
