

Who are you?
How old are you?

Yes, I do. I am absolutely satisfied with it. I find it rather unusual and rare.

- What is your name?
- Leila.
- Do you accept your name?

Sure. I believe it is quite energetic and strong.

- What is your name?
- Mark.
- Do you accept your name?

Well, to some extent. I don't think it suits me but I guess it sounds rather pleasant and lovely.

- What is your name?
- Alina.
- Do you accept your name?

Well, though it doesn't sound very tender and soft I think it suits me.

- What is your name?
- Irene.
- Do you accept your name?

No, I don't accept it at all. They say it sounds very delicate. But I want it to be more energetic.

- What is your name?
- Mila.
- Do you accept your name?

Yes, absolutely. I'm even proud of it. I believe it sounds both energetic and tender. Besides it is quite rare. I think it suits me.

- What is your name?
- Lora.
- Do you accept your name?

Who gave you the name?

Were you called after anybody?

My mum did. I was called after my granny because she was highly respected and loved by everybody in the family. Mum wanted me to be as wise as she was.

How do your parents and friends
call you for short?

Well, when they are in a good mood and are pleased with me, they call me Nancy. I do love the name as it sounds cute and warm.

Is there anything in the theory that one's name influences one's character or even life?

Oh, it seems to me rather convincing. Any name consists of certain sounds, these sounds produce certain vibrations and these vibrations tune you in a certain way each time you hear your name. Isn't it logical?

Do you like being your age ? Do you want to grow up?

I enjoy being my age! You can have fun hanging about with friends, entertaining yourself. And you don't have to be in charge of anything at that. But however I'd like to grow up as adults are free to travel anywhere they want to. Besides they are independent and can earn money themselves!

They say I don't look my age!
I don't lack attention and compliments!

The main thing is not to be bored
and lonely!

It doesn't matter how old you are if only your life is full of joy and fun and rich in personal discoveries and insights!

If you are surrounded by interesting people with whom you are on the same wavelength you can be happy
at any age!
