- Your budget
- Your intended use of the trailer
- Your haul
- How much mileage you plan on putting on it

Finding the Right Dealer

Finding the right dealer is crucial to finding the perfect trailer. Look for a trailer dealer that has a large inventory. That way you'll have your pick and you won't have to settle for a trailer just because that's all they had. Look for trailer dealers that offer a wide variety of financing options and who are rated favorably on Yelp and other sites. Finally, go to the lot to see if their customer service matches their claims.

Should You Buy New or Used?

Buying new or used will depend on a variety of factors. Here are several things to consider:

- ❑ Your Budget: a used trailer will generally be much less than a new one.
- ❑ Your Need for a Warranty: New trailers often come with favorable warranties.
