Reading the text about the Lion, the Ass and the fox.

Do you know Aesop's story about the Lion, the Ass and the Fox?

The Lion, the Ass and the Fox hunted together. Of course, the Lion caught many animals. And now came the time to enjoy the meal. The Lion asked the Ass to divide the meal. The Ass divided the food into three equal parts and asked the friends to choose. The Lion got angry. He fell upon the Ass and killed him. Then he asked the Fox to divide the food. The Fox gathered all in one great heap and left a very small portion to himself and said to the Lion: «Eat, Your Majesty, please.» «Ah!» the Lion said, «you have divided very well! Who has taught you to divide?» The Fox answered: «The Ass has given me a very good lesson.»

Moral:

Good lessons must never be forgotten.

If animals are people, what is the moral of the fairy-tale for people?

People must be clever and must think with whom to make friends.

Bad people may teach bad lessons.

Never trouble trouble
Till trouble troubles you
It only doubles trouble
And trouble others, too.
