Ruslan and Ludmila

Prologue

Go search for a green oak leaved,
 And to it with a gold chain bound,
 A learned cat whines away the hours
 By walking slowly round and round,
 To right he walks, and steps a ditty:
 To left he walks, and tells a tale...

What marvels there! A mermaid sitting
 High in a tree, a griffin, a troll
 While unknown beasts more never seen by
 Man's eyes, a hat on chicken feet,
 Without a deer, without a warden,
 An evil witch's lone retreat;

The woods and valleys there are teeming
 With strange things... Dawn brings waves
 That, gleaming,

Over the sandy beaches creep,

And from the clear and shimmering water
 Step thirty goodly knights escorted
 By their old Guardian, of the deep
 An ancient dragon... There a dreared
 And haled tree is captive to me,
 There, in all match, for cloud banks hoisted
 Across the sea and o'er a plain,
 A wretch bears a knight, there, weeping
 A princess sits locked in a cell,
 And Gray Wolf serves her very well,
 There, in a mortar, around swarming
 All of itself, beneath the skies
 The wicked Baba-Yaga flies;

There glows Kachkel and licks for gold...
 All brethren of Russ, the Russ of old!
 There once was I, friends, and the cat,
 As near him smelt the oak I sat
 And gnawed of sweet meat at my leisure,
 Recounted tales to me... With pleasure
 One that I liked do I recall
 And here and now will share with all...
