

TRAVELLING BY TRAIN

First people plan their travelling.
People choose the way of their travelling.
People choose a kind of transport.

Then people book and buy tickets at the booking-office.

When people travel they put their things into the suitcase.

When people go somewhere for a long time they take some suitcases.
Many suitcases are called a luggage.

At home people pack their things into a suitcase.

Parents are helping their son pack his things into a suitcase.

On the start day of travelling people take a bus.
People go to the railway station to catch a train.

At the railway station people can sit in the waiting-room for some time.

People can read a book or a magazine at the railway station.

People can look at the time-table of the trains.

Then people go to the platform.

When people find their carriage they get on the train.

Friends see their relatives or their friends off.

If their luggage is heavy or big people call a porter.
The porter helps people carry their luggage.

On the platform people look for their carriage.

In the carriage people find their compartment.

In the compartment people take their seats.

The seats in the compartment are very comfortable.

In the compartment passengers can sleep, read, sit, talk, look out of the train window, listen to the radio.

During the stops other passengers can get on the train.

Passenger trains have got a dining-car.

Passengers can enjoy their meals in the dining car during their travelling.

Tasty meals in the dining car make passengers' travelling enjoyable.

When the way is over passengers get off the train.
