FORMAL LETTER

A formal letter is used when you write to someone you do not know or the content is impersonal. Examples include job applications and business letters. Plan out your letter and ask yourself:

Why am I writing this letter?

Who is my audience?

What response do I want?

The name and address of the person to whom you are writing.

Mr. D. Taylor,
Customer Service Manager,
Taylor Games,
Unit 1, North Avenue,
Town,
WX1 2YZ

Your full address

6 Cherry Lane,
Town,
AB1 2CD

21st July 2013

Date

Greeting: Use the title and name of the person to whom you are writing.

Dear Mr. Taylor,

Reference: The heading of your letter, it tells the reader what the letter is about.

Re: Customer Service Complaint, Order Number 20340506

Opening paragraph: Explain why you are writing the letter. Be clear and to the point.

I am writing to complain about the awful customer service that I received from your company over the last six weeks in relation to my order.

Main paragraphs: Explain what has happened in more detail.

I purchased a computer game on the 5th June, on a guaranteed five-day delivery service, allowing plenty of time for delivery before my son's birthday in July.

Do not write one large paragraph. Use connectives or write a paragraph for each point.

After ten days, the game still hadn't arrived so I sent an email to find out where it was. Two days later, there was still no response, so I tried to contact you by phone. However, I was only able to get through to an answer phone message.

Support opinions with facts.

On the 26th June, I finally spoke to one of your customer services representatives, who assured me that my order had finally been dispatched and would be delivered on the 2nd July, just in time for my son's birthday.

Conclusion: Repeat the main point and explain what response or outcome you want.

Much to my disappointment, six weeks after placing my order, I am still waiting for the computer game to arrive. The issue has caused an enormous disruption and is not something that I expected from a reputable online retailer.

I am offended by the lack of respect shown by your company and demand that a refund be issued immediately.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Close: Use 'Yours sincerely' if you know the name of the person to whom you are writing. If not, use 'Yours faithfully'.

Yours sincerely,

Your signature and name.
