

Panorama city

“Here you can find unique models, virtual tours, interactive consoles, educational games, and unforgettable experience for kids and adults. There’s a cafe and a souvenir shop. It’s a perfect place to bring your friends and family.” - these words welcome us on the Museum's website.

This place opened in winter 2016. Few people know about this attraction. However, the Museum is worth visiting by all tourists and citizens, because it combines new technology and ancient history.

Exhibition

KAZAN IN MINIATURE

They have rigorous historically accurate models of Kazan in 16th and 18th centuries. You can see the up-to-date Kazan on a detailed architectural model; it has almost every building of Kazan's historical center.

The total area of the models is more than three hundred square meters while the height of the Suiumbike tower, which is one of the city's landmarks, is just several centimeters.

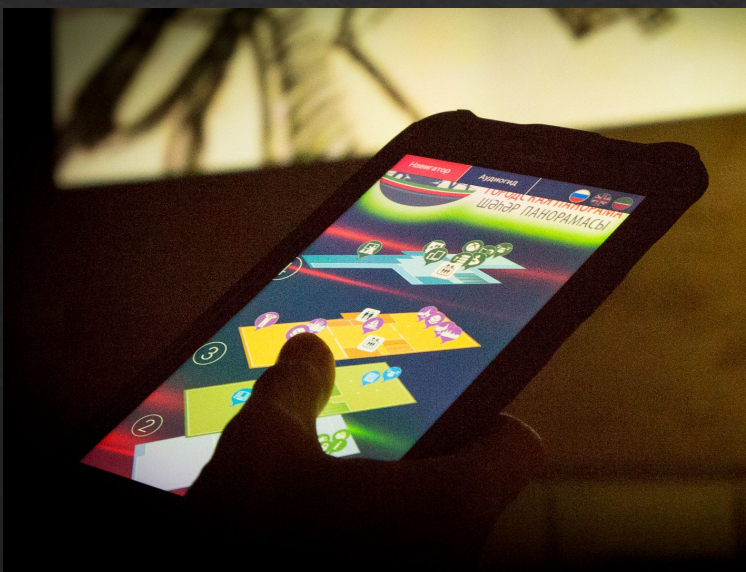

3D MAPPING

The latest technologies of 3D video projections bring Kazan's most important historical events to life.

AUDIO GUIDE

Every visitor can pick up an audio guide with the single-use headphones at the check-room. This portable assistant determines your location at the complex and provides you with information on each exhibition piece. That should make your visit not only educational but quite entertaining.

AUGMENTED REALITY

Would you like to shake hands with the tzar (Russian for 'king') Peter the First or make a selfie with a Tatar poet Gabdulla Tukai and other historical characters? Nothing is impossible with the augmented reality technology. Special sensors determine the positions of the viewers while the processor allows them to interact with the virtual characters of the distant past on an interactive wall.

A memento photo can become a nice surprise for any participant of the augmented reality. You can send your picture with the historical characters to your email or post them on social media on the tablets attached to the interactive wall.

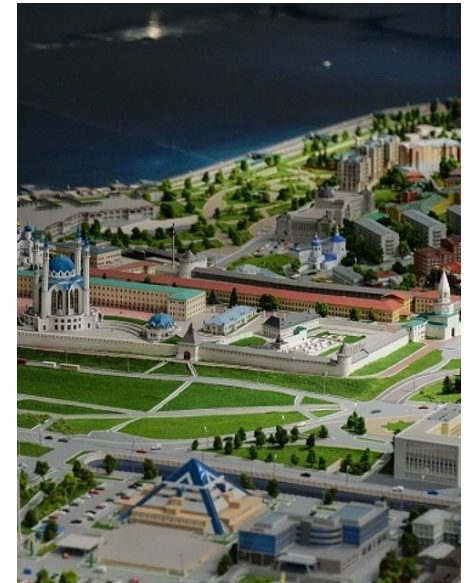

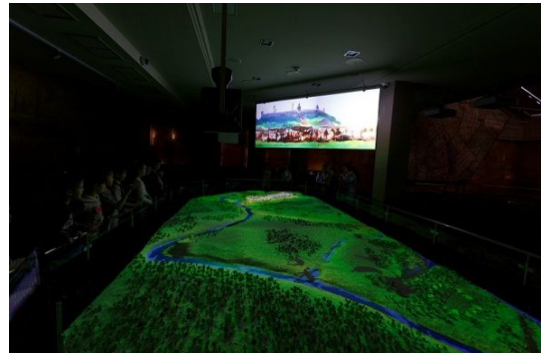

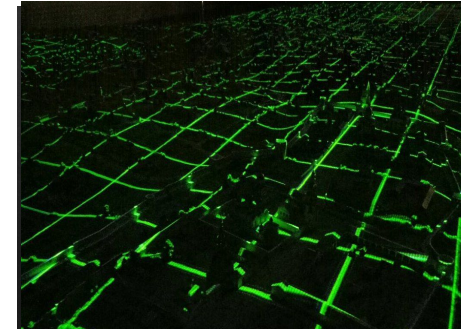

The background is a detailed, dark-toned illustration of a historical street scene in Kazan, specifically the Old-Tatar Sloboda. It shows multi-story buildings with traditional architectural features like arched windows and balconies. The perspective is from a slightly elevated position looking down the street. The overall mood is historical and atmospheric.

IN THE STREETS OF PAST LABYRINTH

Our visitors will be surrounded by the images of city streets carefully created by the scientists and artists from the historic documents and also by the original Kazan household items when they enter the room dedicated to Old-Tatar Sloboda, the unique historic part of Kazan.

THE BIRD'S EYE VIEW

One of the most unusual exhibits in City Panorama is above 2.5 m height video wall that shows the bird's eye view of Kazan. Our guests can feel like flying above the city by using a 3D gamepad and choosing the direction with a set of dots on the map. To create that interactive piece we used a special flying machine that made more than 250 high resolution circle panoramas of the city.

Interesting at any age.

For our small but energetic guests they have a special children zone; it's a huge room where they can not only have a lot of fun but also learn some new thing.

There's another game on a huge screen, the game that is based on an old legend about the creation of Kazan. The brave batir (a warrior in Tatar) fights the snakes and defeating them goes to battle with the dragon Zilant. However all the fights in the game are quite amicable so they suit even our smallest guests.

The older kids can play an exciting quiz on the history of Kazan from its first days to its present.

CAFE TRAM

You will love our cafe. It's designed to resemble a city tram riding along the streets of Kazan in 19-20th centuries. It will drive you around the first 5 tram routes opened in 1899 in just a couple of minutes. The time you'll spend over a cup of tea or coffee with a pastry picked of a vast choice of ethnic cuisine is going to be both enjoyable and educational.

The Museum opens every day at 10 a.m. and closes at 18 p.m., but the ticket office closes one hour earlier. Panorama city is open to visitors daily.

I hope you will visit this interesting and fascinating attraction!
