

An aerial photograph of the city of Khanty-Mansiysk, showing a dense urban area with various buildings, roads, and green spaces. The city is situated on a hillside with a forested background. The text 'Churches and temples of Khanty-Mansiysk' is overlaid in white, with the words 'Churches and temples of' on the top line and 'Khanty-Mansiysk' on the bottom line. The text is centered and spans across the middle of the image. Below the main title, the text 'Prepared it: Kosyakova Anna Eduardovna' is written in a smaller white font, centered horizontally.

Churches and temples of Khanty-Mansiysk

Prepared it: Kosyakova Anna Eduardovna

A photograph of a white Orthodox church with a prominent golden spire and a smaller golden dome, set against a clear blue sky. The church is surrounded by snow, and a black metal fence is visible in the foreground. The church has a green roof and a bell tower with a cross on top. The background shows a snowy hillside with evergreen trees.

Church of the Intercession of the Most Holy Theotokos

- The first mention of the Church of the Intercession of the Most Holy Theotokos in Khanty-Mansiysk dates back to the XVIII century. By 1815, it was rebuilt. The first building of the Church of the Intercession of the Most Holy Theotokos could not be completely preserved. During the Soviet era, it was almost completely dismantled. In 2000, a new church was built on the foundation of the old monastery.

Church of the Icon of the Mother of God "The Sign"

- The Church of the Icon of the Mother of God "The Sign" is located near the building of the District Clinical Hospital. The construction of this wooden monastery was started in 1991. It was then that the foundation was laid, and in 1993 the wooden part of the future church was built, it was crowned with a golden dome with a cross. In the winter of 1995, a new church facility was consecrated. Currently, the church of the Icon of the Mother of God "The Sign" is active, services are held here, and a Sunday school is open.

The Temple complex in the name of the Resurrection of Christ

- The temple complex "In the name of the Resurrection of Christ" is located in the central part of the city, on one of the seven hills. This beautiful Orthodox complex was conceived and executed in honor of the 2000th anniversary of the Nativity of Christ. On the territory of the complex there are also monuments to the metropolitans-Philotheus of Leshchinsky and John of Tobolsk, whose incorruptible relics are located in Siberian churches.

Cathedral Mosque

- Khanty-Mansiysk is home to many cultures with different faiths and 10 % of them are Muslims. Almost all of them go to the only cathedral mosque in the city every week. On average, more than 2,000 people visit it on public holidays. Also, all religious services, Muslim religious rites and ceremonies are held in the mosque in accordance with the religious and legal direction (madhhab). Today, active work is underway to build a new mosque in the city. The city authorities supported the Muslims and allocated a plot for the construction of a mosque.

Russian Church of Christians of the Evangelical Faith " Transfiguration"

- Since its foundation in 1994, the Church has been actively involved in the spiritual and social life of the city of Khanty-Mansiysk. One of the most important tasks of the church is to spread the gospel message, as well as Christian norms and values among the population of our city.
- People who attend Church take part in a choir, a youth music group, theater productions, an ensemble for older people, and participate in various city events, such as landscaping the city.

An aerial night photograph of a city, likely in Russia, showing a dense urban landscape with numerous buildings, streets, and a large park area. The city is illuminated with warm yellow and orange lights, and there are some blue and green light displays. The ground is covered in snow, and the sky is dark. The text "• Thanks for your attention!!!" is overlaid in large white font.

• Thanks for your attention!!!