

A black and white photograph of a wrought-iron gate. The gate features a central rectangular sign with the German phrase "ARBEIT MACHT FREI" (Work makes free) inscribed in a bold, sans-serif font. The sign is divided into two horizontal sections, with "ARBEIT" on top and "MACHT FREI" on the bottom. The gate's structure is composed of thick, dark metal bars forming a complex geometric pattern of triangles and squares. The background is a light, overcast sky, and some blurred trees and buildings are visible in the distance through the gate's openings.

ARBEIT
MACHT FREI

Дахау

Dachau

Кирпично-обжигательные печи, приспособленные для сжигания чумных трупов

Печь для сжигания трупов людей, умерших от чумы. А — наружный вид печи для обжигания кирпича. Б — разрез той же печи, приспособленной для сжигания трупов

K.L. Au-20

K.L. Au-20
19/11/71

K.L. Au-153
14.20

K.L. Au-250

K.L. Au-221
19/11/71

7

7

K.L. Au-221
19/11/71

153

через проволоку воспрещен
под угрозой РАЕСТРЕЛА

