

London Landmarks

A long-exposure photograph of the Big Ben clock tower and the Houses of Parliament in London at night. The buildings are illuminated with warm yellow lights, and the clock face is brightly lit. The River Thames in the foreground reflects the lights, showing some light trails from passing boats. A bridge with blue lights is visible in the middle ground. The sky is dark blue.

Big Ben

London Eye

A panoramic view of the London skyline. The Shard, a tall, glass-clad skyscraper, stands prominently on the right side of the image. The city is filled with various buildings, including older brick structures and modern glass-fronted ones. The sky is bright blue with scattered white clouds. In the foreground, there's a reflection of the city on a dark surface, possibly water or a polished floor. A blue rounded rectangle with the word "London" in white text is overlaid on the bottom left.

Millennium Dome

A photograph of the Tower of London, a historic castle in London, England. The image shows the main body of the castle, which is a large stone building with multiple towers and battlements. The central tower is the most prominent, featuring a large arched window and a crenellated roof. To the left, a tall flagpole flies the Union Jack. The castle is surrounded by a body of water, and the reflection of the building is visible in the water. The sky is overcast, and the overall tone of the image is somewhat muted. A blue banner with white text is overlaid at the bottom of the image.
