

A close-up photograph of a wicker basket filled with bread and wheat stalks. The basket is woven from light-colored wicker and is filled with several round loaves of bread. One large loaf is prominently displayed in the center, covered in dark seeds. To its right is a smaller, round loaf with white sesame seeds. The basket is surrounded by several stalks of golden wheat, some of which are leaning over the edge. The background is a soft-focus field of wheat under a clear blue sky. The overall scene is warm and rustic, emphasizing the connection between the grain and the bread.
