A photograph of a dolphin show in a large, domed indoor arena. Two dolphins are leaping from the water, one on the left and one on the right, both reaching towards a large, colorful hoop structure suspended from the ceiling. The hoop is made of red, blue, and yellow rings. A yellow ball is hanging from the top of the hoop. In the background, a large audience of people is seated in bleachers, watching the performance. The arena's ceiling is a complex network of white cables and lights. The water in the pool is dark green and splashing. A blue inflatable structure is visible on the right side of the pool.

Dolphins jumping a lot, catching balls, spinning hoop, jump through it. All commands are performed accurately.
