3: Queens,

4: Bronx,

5: Staten Island

Manhattan

This borough is more populated than Bronx, but less than Brooklyn. Population is about 1 629 000 people. The territory is about 88 square kilometers. Some of the richest people live there. There are famous places in this borough like World's Trade Center, Wall Street, Empire State Building, Met Life Tower, the Chrysler Building, Central Park and the Woolworth Building. There is an interesting fact: a parking space in Manhattan can cost more than a penthouse in one of the tallest skyscrapers.

Brooklyn

It is a borough with population about 2 583 000 people. The territory is 251 square kilometers. This borough is one of the most famous in New York. Do you know why? There is an amusement park with a Ferris wheel and a parachute tower. But that's not all. There is also a staircase that served as the setting for the movie called "Joker". That staircase is one of the most famous places in Brooklyn. That borough has more Russian speakers than other boroughs in New York. There is also a small Russian district which called : "Brighton – Beach".

Bronx

The population of Bronx is about 1 455 000 people. The territory is about 148 square kilometers. That borough is named after Jonas Bronx, who was born in Sweden and was a captain in Netherlands. Bronx is located in the north of Manhattan. In 1874 the southern part of the borough was transferred to Manhattan. In 1895 Bronx became a separate borough.

Religion

The city is home to representatives of almost all religions and religious sects. Christians and followers of Judaism are numerically dominant. New York City has places of worship for all major religions, including more than a hundred mosques.
