WHAT'S THE WEATHER LIKE IN SYDNEY?

A wide-angle photograph of the Sydney Harbour Bridge, a large steel arch bridge, spanning the water. The bridge is dark and industrial in appearance. In the background, the city skyline is visible with various buildings. The water in the foreground is calm with some ripples. The sky is filled with heavy, grey clouds, suggesting an overcast day. On the right side, a modern building with a curved facade is partially visible. The overall tone of the image is somewhat somber due to the weather.

[illegible]The background image shows a wide-angle shot of the Sydney Harbour Bridge spanning the water. The bridge's steel arch is prominent against a heavy, grey, overcast sky. In the foreground, the dark water of the harbour reflects the light. To the right, modern city buildings are visible along the waterfront. On the left, there are some wooden structures, possibly part of a pier or dock. The overall atmosphere is cool and moody due to the weather.

WHAT'S THE WEATHER LIKE IN BOGOTÁ?

Photo: El Mundo

A photograph of a rainy street scene in Bogotá. In the foreground, a man and a woman are walking towards the camera, sharing a large orange umbrella. The woman is wearing a light purple shirt and blue jeans, and the man is wearing a dark sweater and dark pants. In the background, two other people are walking away from the camera; one is holding a black umbrella and the other a green one. The street is wet and reflective, and there are trees and parked cars in the distance. The overall atmosphere is cold and rainy.
