

History of the profession

System administrator

All professions linked with programming and informatics were created relatively recently.

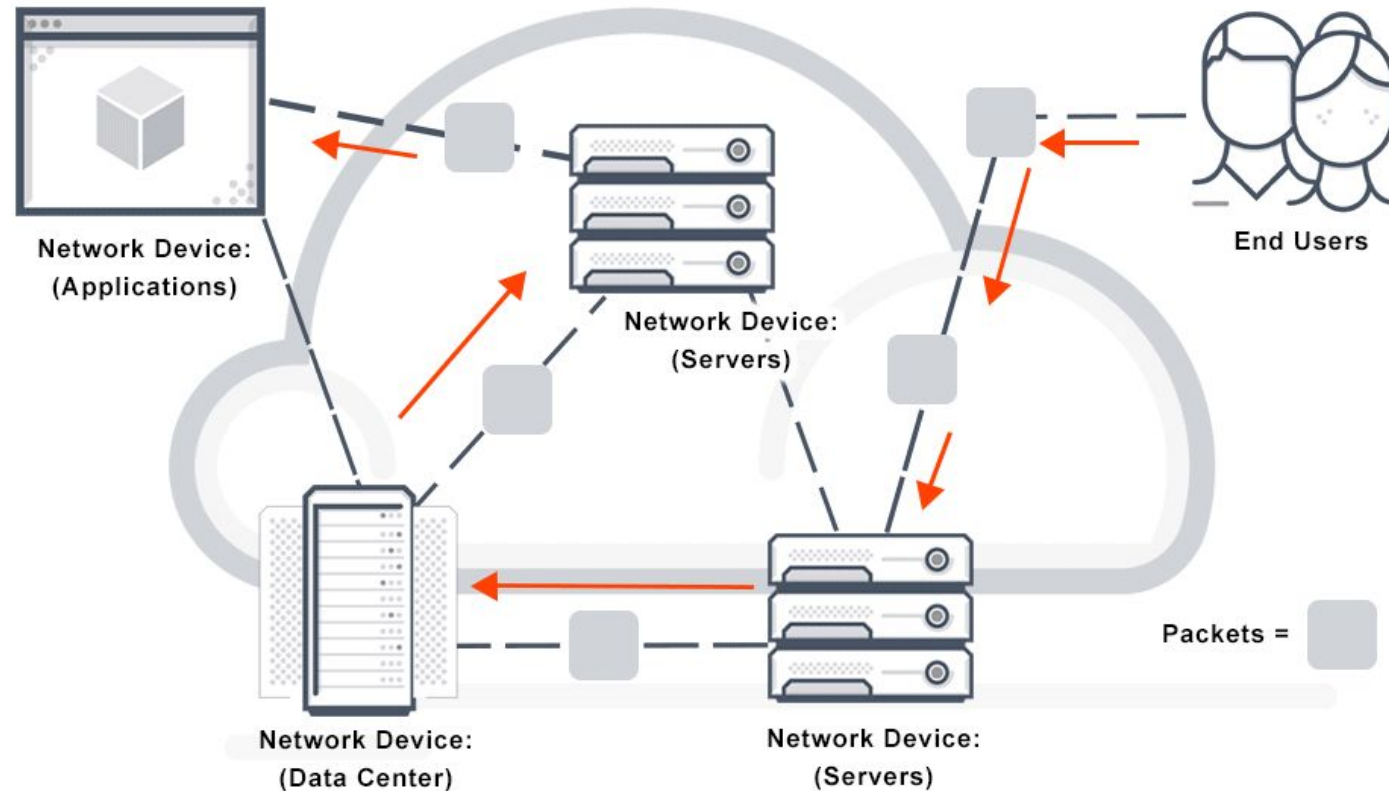

First system administrators appeared with the genesis of the first computer web which was created in USA military department in 1980s

And in late 80s appeared most known computer web called Internet which starts to grow and spread around the world.

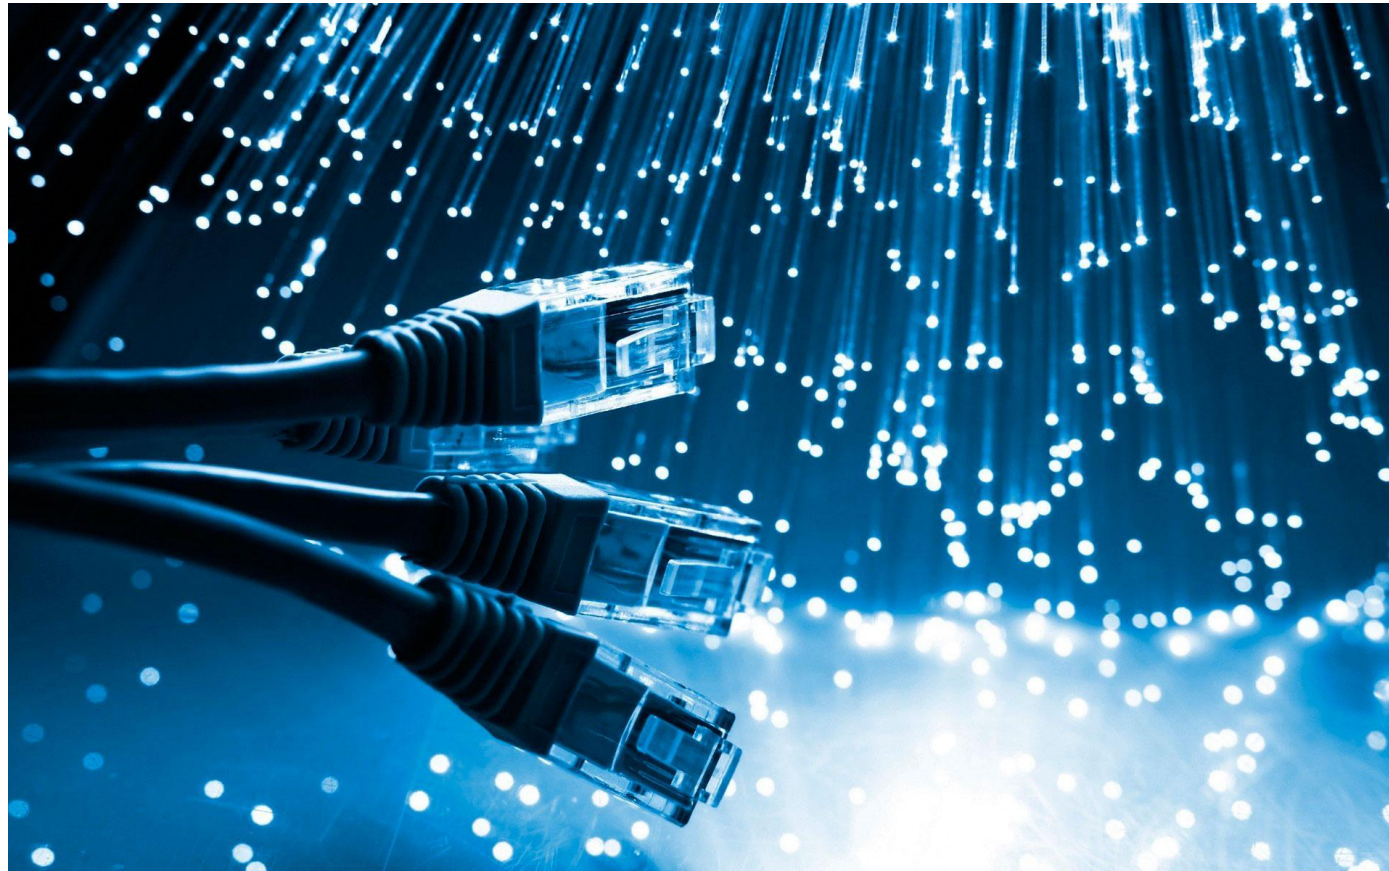

So it was necessary to control work of such complicated network.

At that moment profession system administrator gets widespread.

Today, the presence of a large number of various world and regional computer networks determines the wide popularity of this profession.

Thank you for attention!