

Russia as a global leader

Aziza Navjuano

Multipolar world system

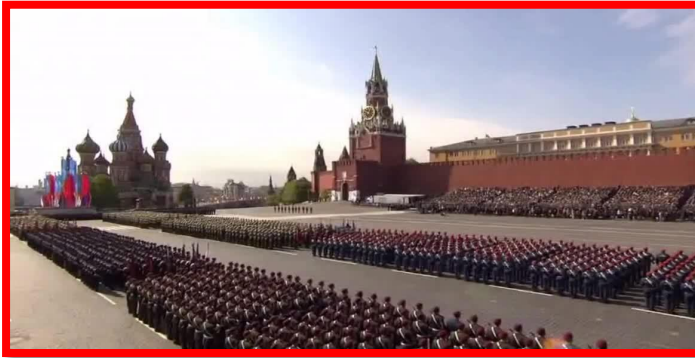

The main criteria of leadership

- economic might
- military might
- large population
- advantageous geographic position
- key role in global affairs
- good relations with neighbors

Russia's advantages to become a superpower:

- Territory
- Military might
- Diplomatic weight
- Nuclear –

Issues that prevents Russia of becoming a Global Leader

- ❖ Economic might
- ❖ Demographic problems
- ❖ Conflict with Ukraine

Economic might

Depends on:

- oil and gas exports;
- imports of consumer goods;

Demographic situation

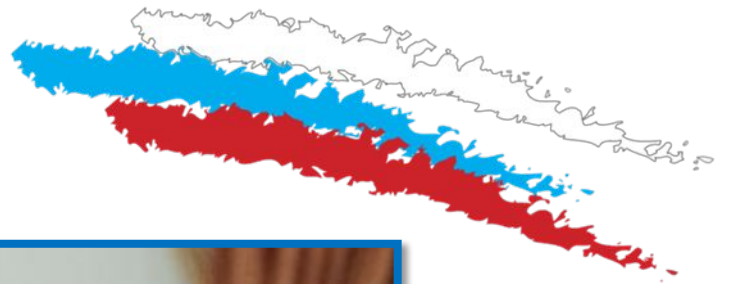

□ Russia is only the 9th largest country by population and is much smaller than China, India or the US.

□ Population – 146.3 million people (2015 year).

Conclusion

Vladimir Putin: “We don’t claim the role of a superpower for ourselves. That is far too expensive and unnecessary”.
