

WAS BUILT IN 1853, but the first film was made in 1903.

And became a popular place in 1920-1940.

The image shows the iconic Hollywood sign, a landmark in Los Angeles, California. The sign consists of large, white, block letters spelling out "HOLLYWOOD" in all caps, mounted on a hillside. The hillside is covered in dense, dry, scrubby vegetation in shades of brown and green. In the background, a clear blue sky is visible, and some utility poles and wires can be seen on the right side of the hill. The overall scene is bright and sunny.
