Monument to the Sunken Ships

- One of the most recognized monuments in Sevastopol. You can see it on its coat-of-arms.
- During the war of 1854 the Russian ships were sunk by the Russian sailors to stop the enemy
- In 1905 the monument was built and quickly became the emblem of the city.

Black Sea Fleet Museum

- The museum was opened in 1869 after the Crimean war
- Its exhibits are about ships, officers and sailors of the Black Sea Navy
- It is close to the House of officers and next to the main square.

Dolphinarium

Our Dolphinarium in the city center is an interesting place for children and adults:

- Watch the tricks of dolphins and seals
- Swim with the dolphins after the show
- Take photos with the animals

Welcome to Sevastopol

A vacation you'll never forget!
