Causes of Xenophobia

The Day the Solutrean Hypothesis is Proved.

Conclusion.

In concluding ,I want to say the preceding discussion of xenophobia is summarized and it is shown how both emotion and reason play a role in xenophobia. It is argued that xenophobia has been misdiagnosed as a ‘human problem’—to be remedied by controlling humans, either by educating them or channeling their movements, etc. While human factors play a role —argues that xenophobia is a structural problem, related to power, and hence it calls for structural solutions.
