INTERESTING PLACES OF KAZAN

THE KREMLIN

The Kazan Kremlin is a symbol of combination of Muslim and Orthodox cultural traditions. It was erected in the period of vigorous growth of the Kazan Khanate. In 2000 the Kazan Kremlin was declared by UNESCO an object of the world heritage.

Kul-Sherif Mosque

Near the Annunciation Cathedral in the courtyard of the former cadet school Kul-Sherif Mosque is erected. It reminds us about the most beautiful mosque of the Kazan khanate, destroyed in XVIth century. The main dome has the shape of the Kazan hat-the crown of Kazan khans. Blue color of the dome symbolizes the sky.

The Suyumbeki Tower

The Suyumbeki Tower was called so in honour of the last Kazan tsarina. Its silhouette is frequently used as an architectural emblem of the city. It is 58 meters high and is called the leaning tower as the displacement of the top of the roof from its initial position has nowadays reached almost 2 meters.

SPASSKAYA TOWER

It's one of the oldest buildings in the Kremlin. During many centuries it has been the main square of Kazan. The Spasskaya Tower has the walls 16 meters thick. In front of the Tower you can see the monument to Musa Jalil.

Peter and Paul's (Petropavlovsky) Cathedral

In the central part of Kazan is the most ancient in the city church Peter and Paul's Cathedral, erected in memory of Peter the Great's visit to Kazan.

A pedestrian street in the centre of Kazan, so called a corner of Petersburg, was opened on the eve of the 1000th jubilee of the city as a present of St. Petersburg to the capital of Tatarstan. All city architectural objects situated here are built in the style of the northern capital. You can see here a part of Vasilyevsky Island and the Neva, embankment and bridges and many other interesting things.

Kaban is a system of lakes linked one to the other: the Blizhny Kaban in the city centre is linked by a channel with the Sredny Kaban- the largest lake, flowing to the outskirts of Kazan, and at last the Verkhny Kaban. The overall length of the lakes is about 8 km, the average width is about 400 meters, the depth from 8 to 10 meters.

Kamal Tatar Theatre

It is situated on the bank of the Kaban Lake. It is the reflection of all Tatar theatrical culture. Theatre is popular with both Tatar speaking population and others too, as translation into Russian and English is provided.

“Pyramida”

Entertainment center combines nearly all popular kinds of rest. It is both restaurant and bowling club, casino and fitness-club, coffee-house and disco-club. You can watch here both a concert and a sports competition.
