

Seth Curry

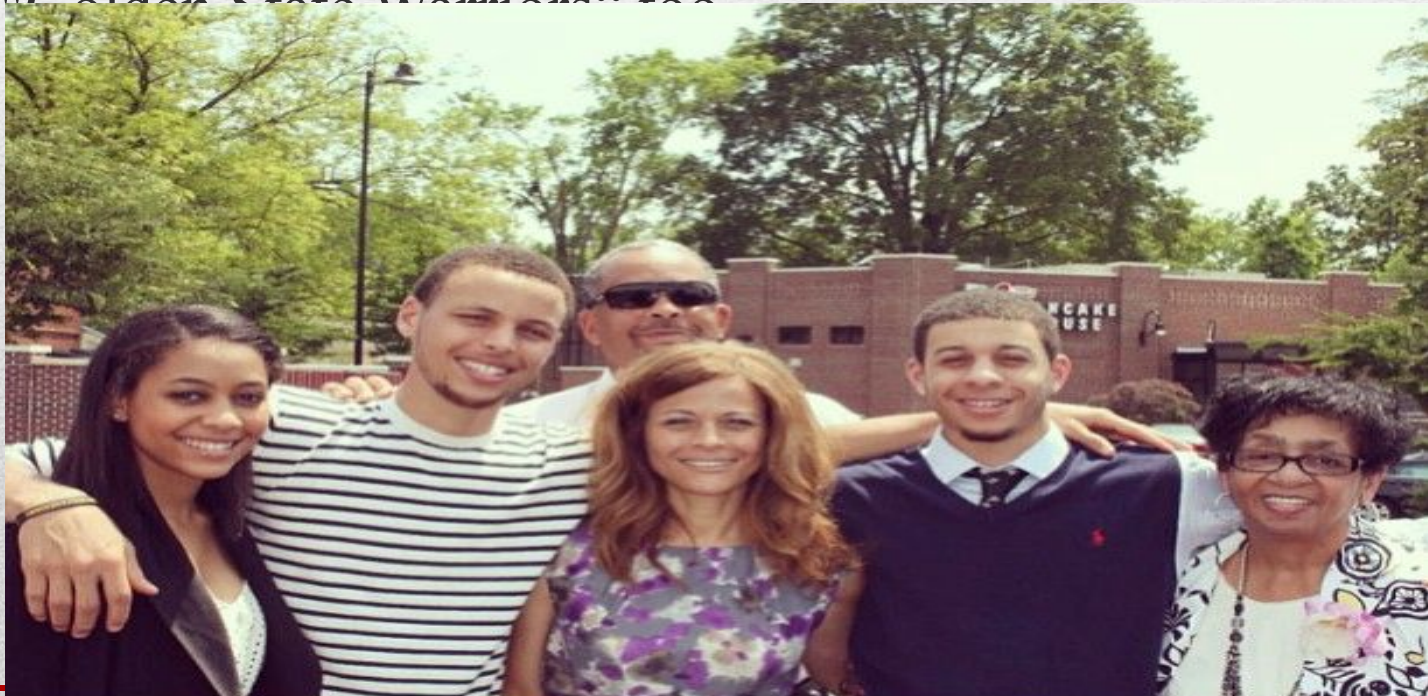

- Seth Curry - an American professional basketball player who currently plays for the NBA team, "Dallas Mavericks".

As member of the US junior national team in 2009 he became the world champion among young men.

- Seth's father, Dell Curry, a former professional basketball player, who spent 16 years in various NBA clubs, is now a commentator for "Charlotte Bobcats" matches. Seth's mother, Sonya, played in volleyball team of Virginia Tech. His older brother Stephen Curry is a player of "Golden State Warriors" too.

Seth graduated from high school Charlotte in 2008. After high school, Seth continued his studies at Liberty University.

- In 2013, Curry was included in the second symbolic team of the best players of the championship US student.

- After the season 2008/09 Curry transferred from Liberty University to Duke University. As a sophomore, Curry began to play in the starting five, "Blue Devils" after a severe leg injury freshman Kyrie Irving.

- He was purchased by the club in the 6th of November by "Santa Cruz Warriors", acting in league NBA Development. December 24, 2013 Curry signed a contract with "Memphis Grizzlies" command. July 22, 2015 signed a two year contract for 2 million. Dollars "Sacramento Kings".

- Thank you for your attention

