

Tourism instructor

How to become a tourism instructor?

- To become an instructor, you need to study at the Faculty of Tourism or at courses and get the appropriate certificate. However, as in any profession, theory is good, but the main thing is practice. It's good to go to study for an instructor when you have hiking trips of varying complexity and a sporting past behind you. This will provide the necessary level of endurance, strength and psychological preparation.

Advantages of this profession:

+ At the moment, this is a very popular profession.

+ The instructor can travel for free and use the equipment and equipment of the company in which he works.

The world is at your feet. If Russia becomes small, there are other countries.

A wide field of activity. You can choose your preferred type of tourism or change it if you want new experiences (mountain, ski, cycling, water, etc.)
