

*Heart goes out to someone -
искренне
сочувствовать
кому-либо,
жалеть кого-
либо*

One's heart stood still – сердце
замерло от
испуга

To pluck up heart –
собраться с
духом

A young child with blonde hair is looking down at a small hedgehog. The hedgehog is sitting on a white plate and eating something. The background is a soft, out-of-focus green.

To have a big heart
- иметь доброе
сердце

She was walking home late at night. The street was dark and unusually quiet. Suddenly she heard a hoarse cough behind her.

The girl's one's heart stood still. Someone called to her. She managed to pluck up heart and turn around. The man was standing in the back. He started to approach. The girl was startled at first, but then she noticed that he was holding something out.

She looked closer and saw a glove, that she had dropped and didn't notice. After that, the girl looked at the man's face and saw kind eyes. They say that if a person has good eyes, then he to have a big heart. She thanked him without fear and went on.
