- You have received a email message from your English-speaking pen friend Tom who is writing:
- “ ... as you remember, I have been working on a new project in Chemistry and after 5 months of countless experiments and researches I have managed to create a new invention and got the first prize on exhibition of high technologies! My parents can be proud of me!
- By the way, what invention of the XX – XXI do you consider the most important, why? Who was the inventor and when did it happen? Sorry, I must go to help my mum with the shopping.
