Forage production

Meadow farming

Field feed production

Consumers of feed products in Russia are three types of farms:

1

Private farmsteads of citizens and small farms.

Medium-sized agricultural enterprises of the Soviet type that have managed to adapt more or less successfully to modern conditions.

Modern livestock complexes integrated into the structure of agricultural holdings.

Feed Production In Russia

most significant problems of feed production:

Weak material and technical base of agricultural enterprises;

2

Unwillingness and inability to implement modern management methods;

3

Lack of system support from the state;

Unbalanced and lack of systemic links between agricultural sectors.
