DEVELOPMENT OF DESIGN

Design development in Kazakhstan came from Western countries. The essence of the design activity: on the one hand, a set of knowledge and skills that have been converted into a design method, which is then used to create a design project; on the other - this outlook designer, his view on the subject of design and the world, as well as the ability to generalize, synthesize, isolate the essential relationships and regularities. In this work, the main task is to identify the most effective methods of designing and developing a sequence of design concepts.
