

Microsoft culture

- I believe that microsoft culture can be attributed to HIERARCHY CULTURE. I think so because it is suitable for the structure of this culture. Each department has its own head, this head is led by a separate department, and another head is led by him, and so on.

- Also, this company can be attributed to this motto: "Get it done right." Because they work on the quality of the services provided.

GET IT DONE

Thanks for watching!!!

