Stonehenge is an ancient monument in south-west England. For me, it's the most interesting place I've ever visited.

INTERESTING

I clearly remember my first visit to Stonehenge with my aunt and uncle.

ONE

They lived nearby and I often went to stay with them for my summer holidays.

GO

On the day of our trip the weather was fine.

WE

There was a cool wind blowing, the sun was bright in the sky and Stonehenge looked calm and magical. In those days it was possible to walk among the stones and even touch them.

BE

It's very different now. Stonehenge has become more crowded than it was.

BECOME

As a result, now people are allowed to walk around the monument but they can't come up very close to it.

ALLOW

Today I wish I had an opportunity to get inside the circle again but unfortunately it is not possible any more.

HAVE

The Stonehenge mystery is still unexplained but I believe scientists will solve it in the near future.

SOLVE

A scroll of aged parchment with a red wax seal and a quill pen. The scroll is unrolled, showing the text. The wax seal is a red, circular stamp with a decorative border. The quill pen is a single feather, likely a crow or raven, used for writing. The parchment is yellowed and has a rough, torn edge.

By the time she was five, Matilda was able to read very well. She studied every magazine and newspaper that she could find around the house.

The librarian was surprised to see such a small child. "Are you here for the first time? Would you like me to find a nice book with lots of pictures for you?" she asked.

ONE

"No, thank you, I have found what I need," answered Matilda showing a thick book of fairy tales.

FIND

Then she added, "I will come for a new book as soon as I finish this one".

COME

The librarian was really shocked when she saw Matilda only two days later. "I wish all children would like reading so much," the librarian said. From that day on Matilda went to the library every afternoon.

Dad usually comes up with original ideas. Last Sunday Dad decided that we should all go on a camping trip.

DECIDE

The idea came to him while he Was reading an article about camping. The article said that camping brings families together.

READ

“Not true”, I smiled. “What about television? It usually helps families to feel a lot more united.”

HELP

“If the weather is fine, we will go on a trip next weekend,” Dad said and put his magazine on the coffee table.

GO

I quickly looked over at my younger brother, Paul.

YOUNG

He gave me a knowing smile, “Do you remember our last trip?”

WE

I certainly did. Last summer Dad told us that fishing would be a great family activity. We bought four expensive fishing rods and drove for three long hours to a big lake in Virginia. When we got there, we discovered that we had forgotten to take the fishing rods.

FORGET

Ten minutes later we made another unpleasant discovery: we didn't have the tent which meant we couldn't stay overnight and we had to drive all the way back home again.

NOT/HAVE

We were tired and disappointed with the trip.

They looked around. There were old boxes, waste paper and cans on the ground.

BOX

"You are right," her mum said. "I wish people cared about the environment more."

CARE

"I do care about it but I I don't know what I can do to help the park," said Jane.

Jane and her mum went home. In the evening she painted a picture of the park. At the top of the picture she wrote "PLEASE KEEP ME CLEAN".

WRITE

The next day Jane and her mum went to the park earlier than usual. Jane taped her picture onto a big rubbish bin and started picking up rubbish.

EARLY

Some children ran over to see what was going on. They decided to help Jane. Soon all the rubbish was in the bags. "Good job," Jane said, "We have cleaned half of the park.

If we come and complete the other part tomorrow, the whole park will be clean and tidy.

I was sitting in an arm-chair and watching my sister Alison. She was getting ready for a party. Alison was 15 years older than me and she always treated me like a child.

The phone rang in Clark Taylor's house at nearly three in the morning. He answered it only after the fifth ring. "Hello," Clark said in a sleepy voice.

"Mr. Taylor. Thank goodness. I need your help."
Clark definitely knew the voice.

However, he was sleepy and couldn't remember who it was.

NOT/CAN

Then, the fog cleared. Although nearly ten years had passed since their last meeting, Clark was able to recognise the voice.

It belonged to Martin Hall, one of the brightest math students he had ever had.

BRIGHT

“Martin, what’s happened? Where are you? ” Clark asked.

“In the police station. I was arrested at the railway station two hours ago. I was going to a conference.

ARREST

The police mistook me for another person. The irony is that I really do look like the criminal that they are looking for. Besides that, I Have lost my ID card and I can’t prove who I am. You are the only person in this town who knows me. Can you help me?” Martin Hall asked.

LOSE

“If you give me the address, I Will come at once,” Clark said, jumping up of the bed.

COME

It was not difficult for him to prove that Martin Hall was his former student. Clark brought a scientific journal with Martin’s article and a photo of him. The policemen were surprised to find out that their prisoner was a capable young scientist.

Save 15 Minutes for Yourself Every Day

By Lori Cornmesser

By today's standards, my mobile phone is pretty basic. It's a Nokia. It's a small device that receives telephone calls and sends text messages. Other than that, my phone does not do much.

NOT/DO

Most of my friends wish they had smartphones because they are cool and trendy.

HAVE

They say the best thing about a smartphone is that you 'can do everything with it!'

GOOD

That's right, smartphones have many more functions than a simple phone, however, not all of them are needed. In everyday life, smartphones are used mainly for checking social networking sites, replying to emails, and playing games.

USE

Grown-ups as well as children like playing games.

CHILD

Anyway, I prefer my good old Nokia. It's my first mobile phone.

ONE

When I bought it, it didn't cost me very much. And I am not afraid anyone will ever steal it.

I

It's also very reliable. Yesterday I dropped it. It flew down the staircase and hit the wall.

FLY

I thought that was the end of it. But nothing of the kind – it still works properly!
