The book I'm reading at the moment is "The Glass Castle" by Jeannette Walls

I WAS SITTING IN a taxi, wondering if I had overdressed for the evening, when I looked out the window and saw a woman rooting through a Dumpster.

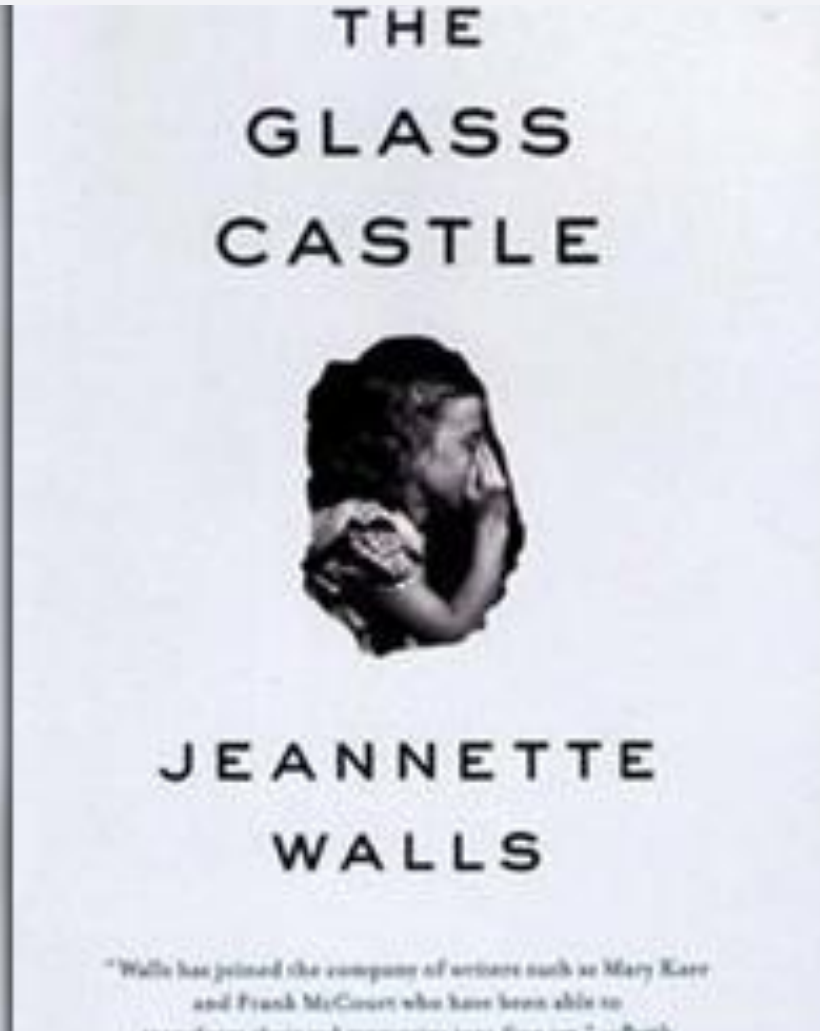

About the writer

Jeannette Walls is a contemporary American journalist and writer specializing in the genre of memoirs and biographies.

Jeannette was born on April 21, 1960 in Phoenix, Arizona.

The family traveled a lot, never staying long anywhere.

The plot

Young Jeannette Walls lives with her parents, Rex and Rose Mary, her older sister, Lori, her younger brother, Brian, and her younger sister, Maureen. Mother is a talented artist, and father was a brilliant inventor, on children's birthdays parents give children stars instead of toys.
