

My future profession

I have not yet decided on my future profession, but there are several options that I like.

Veterinary medicine

- After graduating from the university, I would like to take a refresher course to go to the veterinary doctor.
- Perhaps instead, I will enroll in a part-time training program as a veterinarian.

- I would like to become a veterinarian, because I love animals and I want to help them.

Veterinary and sanitary examination

- This profession is less interesting for me, but it is extremely important and in demand.
- The expert should monitor the quality of the products being tested. I think it's a high-paying job.

Conclusion

- In general, I think that my opinion will change more than once in five years.
- But of course you need to think about the future now.
