LANDOR & FITCH

About this document

Landor & FITCH have been asked to restyle an existing framework for the NEOM Crowdfunding website.

Just Coded are a development partner of NEOM and have an existing white label website framework for crowd funding websites. You can see the initial framework WIP for the NEOM crowdfunding site here

The following document outlines motion guidelines to bring the site to life.

The following pages detail recommendations for how the site should move and animate. These guidelines have been created to be consistent with other sector based sites that are currently in development for consistency.

The core thinking behind these guidelines is bring the site to life in a professional and confident way. This will emphasise the authenticity and professionalism of the site, we want to instil trust in the sites users, innovation start ups, and innovation investors. We have tried to keep motion simple so that it can be replicated on other aspects of the site where possible.

We acknowledge that Just Coded are on a tight timeline, and so these guidelines are delivered as a recommendation for how the site should animate. It is up to just coded to use these guidelines and deliver as close to these as is feasible within their scope and timeline.
