L'ORÉAL

In 1909, Eugène Schueller, a young enterprising chemist, founded a company that later became the L'Oréal group.

L'ORÉAL

It all started with one of the first hair colors: Eugene Schueller made the compounding of paints, manufactured them and sold them to the hairdressing salons in Paris.

Tous les jours les coiffeurs de passage à Paris, peuvent assister à des applications qui sont uniquement faites pour leur montrer comment ils doivent opérer.

Pour ceux qui ne peuvent se rendre à Paris, les explications les plus détaillées leur sont données par correspondance.

L'ORÉAL

With the end of the First World War, a new era was began. The colors of L'Oréal are very successful even outside of France (in Italy, Austria, the Netherlands, the USA, Canada, the UK and
