

POPULATION

Iceland

China

Mexico

A stylized world map where the continents of Africa, Asia, and Europe are highlighted in a solid blue color. The landmasses of North America, South America, and Australia are shown in white. The map includes thin white lines for national borders. The word 'Africa' is written in large white letters across the African continent, 'Asia' is written in large white letters across the Asian continent, and 'Europe' is written in large white letters across the European continent.

Africa

Asia

Europe

JUNE

SEPTEMBER

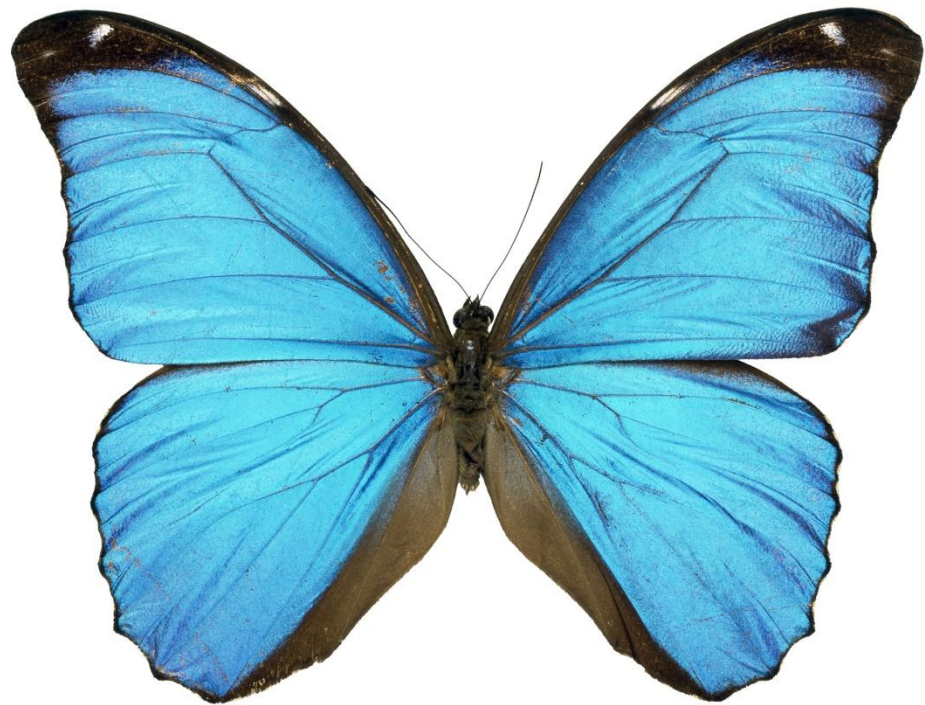

JANUARY

Math

+ - × ÷

MONDAY

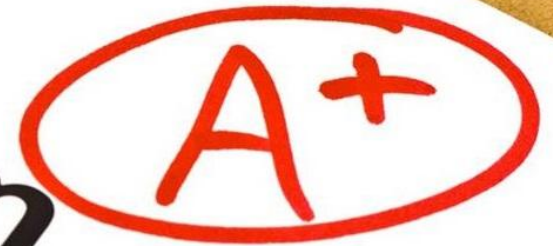

Test

Exam

A+

Five-paragraph essay

Intro: The food in the cafeteria is bad. It lacks variety, it's unhealthy, and it is always overcooked. In this essay I will discuss these three characteristics.

Body paragraph one: The first reason cafeteria food is bad is that there is no variety. (Plus examples, e.g., no salad bar, mostly fried food, etc.)

Body paragraph 2: Another reason cafeteria food is so bad is that it is not healthy. (Plus reasons, e.g., high cholesterol, too many hot dogs, too much sugar, etc.)

Body paragraph 3: In addition, the food is always overcooked. (Plus examples, e.g., vegetables are mushy, "mystery" meat is always tough, etc.)

Conclusion: Thus, we see. . . (re-statement of introduction and thesis)