Mixed martial arts (also MMA - from the English. Mixed martial arts) - martial arts (often incorrectly called "fighting without rules"), which is a combination of many techniques, schools and areas of martial arts. MMA is a full contact fight with the use of striking techniques and wrestling both in a standing position (clinch) and on the floor (parterre). The term "Mixed Martial Arts" was coined in 1995 by Rick Blum, president of Battlecade, one of the earliest MMA organizations and has since found steady use in non-English speaking countries.

My attitude.

I believe that it is Khabib Nurmagomedov who deserves the greatest respect. He has achieved tremendous success in the field of sports, and has spent a lot of energy to become the best fighter. Thanks to his merits, millions of people know him. And I hope that after watching my presentation, people will want to know more about him and become interested in this athlete.

Conclusion.

So, I was able to talk about my sports idol and the kind of sport in which this athlete showed himself. I also expressed my personal attitude towards this athlete, and explained why exactly he should be considered my idol.

Thank you for attention.
