- Tsar Bell - a monument of Russian foundry art of the XVIII
  - The bell was cast by the order of Empress Anna Ioannovna in 1730 in memory of the descendants of her reign.
  - The bell was damaged in 1737 during the Trinity fire and lay in the ground for about a century.

A photograph of the Elizabeth Tower (Big Ben) in London, England, during sunset. The tower is illuminated by the warm, golden light of the setting sun, which is partially obscured by large, dramatic clouds. The sky transitions from a deep blue at the top to a bright orange and yellow near the horizon. The text "Thank you for your attention!" is overlaid in a large, white, sans-serif font across the center of the image.

Thank you for your attention!
