

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

The Supposedly Haunted House

No one lived (live) in the broken-down old house at the end of Maple Street, said had but everyone refused (say) that it decided a ghost. Clarissa (refuse) to believe this, and so one day she (decide) to investigate the house – alone.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

First, she entered (enter) the dusty old foyer at the front of the house, saw (see) a few broken chairs and lots of cobwebs.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

Next, she stepped (step) into the salon beside the foyer.

Several couches stood (stand) there, but no ghosts.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

After that, she opened (open) the door to the library next to the salon: lay many dusty weren't old books (lie) on the floor, but there (not be) any ghosts.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

Then, she left (leave) the library and slowly climbed (climb) the stairs. made went
The stairs (make) a creaking sound as she
(go) up them.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

Upstairs, she investigated (investigate) the bedrooms one by one: covered dust (cover) the beds and dressers, but no ghost (walk) there.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

Clarissa sighed (sigh) and became (become) certain that haunted hurried no ghost (haunt) this house, and so she
..... (hurry)
back downstairs and out of the front door of the house.

NEXT

Change the verbs into the Past Simple Tense and click the verbs.

Finally, as she ~~walked~~ (~~walk~~) away from the house, she ~~looked~~ (~~look~~) back. ~~was~~ there (~~went~~) a ghost in the doorway. The ghost (~~wave~~) goodbye
to her, smiling, and then (~~go~~) back into the house.

